The Cuban Debate Crowds the Senate Galleries.

Under Attorney General Harmon Pushes Action Against Bond Investment Companies.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—The senate galleries were well filled at the opening of the session today in anticipation of the culmination of the Cuban debate and the final vote set for 4 o'clock. Shortly after the session opened Representative Hitt, chairman of the house committee on foreign affairs, joined Mr. Sherman, chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations, in a whispered conference at Mr. Sherman's desk. The Ohio senator announced that the Cuban question would be taken up without waiting for the usual expiration of the morning hour at 2 o'clock. Mr. Allen, populist, of Nebraska, asked to withdraw the resolutions for the appointment of Mr. Lloyd as a senate official. This brought on another discussion as to adding a populist official to the rolls. Mr. Allen finally withdrew the resolutions. Mr. Sherman then moved that the Cuban resolutions be taken up and this prevailed without objection. Chairman Hitt remained along side Mr. Sherman as the debate proceeded. Baron Von Ketller, of the German embassy, occupied a seat in the diplomatic gallery. By this time the public galleries were filled to their full limit and there was promise of a crush.

The floor was yielded for the adoption of the conference on the pension appropriation bill; also for the passage of the bill relating to the anchorage and movement of vessels in St. Marys river.

Mr. Lindsay, (dem.), of Kentucky, then addressed the senate on the Cuban resolutions. He said the conflict in Cuba was at our very doors and was being waged with such desperation that only one of two results could come, either the complete independence of Cuba on one hand or the utter annihilation of the Cuban people on the other. The senator said he approached the subject from the standpoint of humanity rather than of law.

Declarations of sympathy would avail nothing to the Cubans. Declarations that they had progressed to the stage of belligerents would avail nothing. "If the United States intends taking any step that will vail these struggling Cubans, that step should be in the direction of the ultimate independence of Cuba," declared Mr. Lindsay in his stentorian tones. In the past, he continued, the United States had not hesitated to take the position of recognizing independence under circumstances similar to those now existing in Cuba. Quoting from international authorities, the senator maintained that a condition now existed in Cuba justifying the United States in considering a proposition for active intervention to restore public order and in behalf of humanity.

"But," said Mr. Lindsay, "the resolution offered did not contemplate active intervention. It extended our good offices to Spain with a view to securing the ultimate independence of Cuba. And such independence is the only basis which will bring lasting peace to Cuba, judging from the experience of seventy years. The United States could not relieve itself from the responsibility of seeing that Spain showed this island some kind of justice. Could we say to the world that unless Cuba secured her independence by her own unaided efforts she must remain under the abject subjection of Spain? Should we not say to Spain that some sort of protection, some sort of justice and liberty consistent with an enlightened age must be shown to these people? Spain now contemplated the annihilization of all the able bodied men of Cuba in order to crush this uprising. Spain owes to Cuba as much a Turkey owes to Armenia, or as the United States to Venezuela—a duty of protection, and if this protertion was not given, then the point had been reached where the United States should move for the severance of Cuba from Spain.

At 1:15 Mr. Sherman began his speech, closing the debate. He spoke of the keen sensitiveness of the Spanish people and their tendency to quickly resent any act they regarded as injurious to them. "But," said Mr. Sherman, he felt that the time had come when the United States must intervene to put an end to crime almost beyond description." The senator said he would not re enter on the legal arguments so fully covered by Mr. Morgan, but he referred to several pamphlets presented by Mr. Estrada Palma, the agent and representative of the Cubans in this country.

Mr. Sherman said the statement bore the stamp of authority. He said it overcame the misapprehension that the Cubans were scattered, unorganized bands. It showed the organization of a legislature, the army, of the president—the latter a man of high character. It was as complete an organization as the United States had during the revolutionary war.

Sherman, in the course of his speech, declared he did not favor Cuba's annexation to the United States, but strongly favored its annexation to Mexico, a kindred people.

Mr. Gallinger followed Senator Sherman in the senate with a strong appeal for the recognition of Cuban independence. He said that Cuba was making the same struggle that this country made in 1776 and that Weyler was a tyrant. He believed that Cuba would attain her independence, but that this country could make the contest briefer with a proper word of encouragement.

Under Attorney General Harmon's decision sustaining the former action of the postoffice department, Postmaster General Wilson is pushing the fight against the bond investment companys operating lottery schemes. Telegraphic instructions have been sent since by him to secure the arrest of a number of officials of these concerns operating in the southwest and today an order was issued to all postmasters refusing the use of the mails to the Equitable Investment company of Fort Worth, Texas. The mails also will be barred against the officers of the company. Another order has been issued against Harry Lovell, of Chicago.

The president has sent to the house his veto of the bill to authorize the leasing of certain land in Arizona for educational purposes.

The house election committee decided today to report in favor of unseating Mr. Robbins, democrat, of the Fourth district of Alabama and giving his seat to W. F. Aldrich, the contestant, who was supported by republicans and populists. The decision was reached by a party vote, the republicans claiming that ballot box stuffing was practiced.

THE BERMUDA CASE

Develops Some Features Pleasing to the Cubans.

The Stranahan and Its Cargo of Arms and Ammunition Will Undoubtedly be Released.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—The United States authorities have taken a step in the Bermuda case that gives great satisfaction to the Cubans. Heretofore there has been no legal process in connection with the seizure of the steamship and the lighter James S. T. Stranahan and the lighter's cargo of arms and ammunition. They were detained under executive orders, the president of the United States having power to act in such cases, but no court authority had been brought into requisition, except in the case of the men for whom warrants had been issued. James J. Macklin, attorney for McCaldin Bros., who own the steamer Stranahan, made a demand on the United States marshal Wednesday for the release of the lighter.

He was asked to wait until the district attorney could look into the matter and readily acceded. District Attorney McFarlane last night filed a libel and information on behalf of the government against the cargo of the Stranahan, described as containing 300 packages of gunpowder and dynamite, cartridges and other substances of like character. The action is brought under sections 4475 and 4476 of the United States revised statutes, which provide for the packing of explosives for shipment and a penalty of a fine not exceeding $2,000, or imprisonment not exceeding eighteen months, or both, for violation of the requirements, which are that they "shall be securely packed and put up separately from each other and from all other articles, and the package, box, cask or other vessel containing the same shall be distinctly marked on the outside with the name or description of the article contained therein."

The cases on the Stranahan containing explosives are alleged to have been not thus marked. The libel notifies all concerned to appear March 17 before Judge Brown, in the United States district court, to show cause why the packages described should not be seized and forfeited. Speaking of the case, Horatio S. Rubens, general counsel for the Cubans, said: "The action of the district attorney shows that he has abandoned the idea of acting on the ground of infraction of the neutrality laws. He thus introduces a novelty in such cases. There was no warrant for the government's action on the lines followed, because in all the cases that have gone before based on the neutrality laws, the government has failed."

Put Him Back in Prison.

MUNCIE, Ind., Feb. 28. — Warden Harly, of the Michigan City prison, came to Muncie last night after Thomas Lee, who was released yesterday, two months ahead of time. In receiving Lee Warden French wrote the word "May," the time Lee was received, "Mar," and it was mistaken for March While enroute here to be released Lee told Sheriff Sherry that a mistake had been made and the prison officials were notified, discovering the error.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 28.—A local paper says the anarchists of the city will soon organize under the leadership of Pietro Gori, the Italian anarchist who was formerly the instructor of President Carnot's assassin. Gori arrived in the city several weeks ago and attracted considerable attention by attending several social events where Prince Luigi, King Humbert's nephew was a guest.

WAS BLACKMAIL.

Confession of One of the Accusers of Rev. Dr. Brown.

Martha Overman Says She Plotted to Ruin the Character of the Man Whose Hospitality She Enjoyed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 28.—The Rev. Dr. Brown, after two months silence has given his defense to the public. The story is the most startling which has yet been told in the scandal. It was related as a confession to the ecclesiastical court last night by Miss Martha Overman, who is the first in the sensational case to confess herself a blackmailer. Miss Overman's manner was striking. She spoke so quietly that even the members of the council were forced to draw forward until their chairs formed a semi-circle on the platform. The woman spoke deliberately, weaving a remarkable story, logically and clearly. She confessed that she was a blackmailer and thief; she gave the information with a smile. She confessed that she planned the destruction of the man whose hospitality she now enjoys. She declared that to save herself from work and the possible hardships of poverty she conspired with Mrs. Mary A. Davidson to ruin the character of the Rev. Dr. Brown and to blacken her own. She asserted that she approached the representatives of a morning newspaper with a hope of tempting them to blackmail the accused pastor. She drew her recital to a dramatic climax by asserting, with the smile that never left her face, that she wrote the letters which picture her own moral and physical ruin and place the cause of her deep distress at the door of Rev. Dr. Brown. Asserting all this, she denied that there had ever been the slightest impropriety in her relations with the man against whom she plotted so shrewdly.

DAMON AND PYTHIAS.

The Beautiful Story Repeated in Missouri During the War.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo, Feb. 28.—President Homer T. Fuller, of Drury college, announces that he has received a singular proposition from a wealthy Massachusetts man, whose identity he would not disclose. The man offers Drury a large sum of money if it will verify the truth of a war incident which is alleged to have taken place in Missouri, and which, if true, the Massachusetts man thinks equals the story of Damon and Pythias. The president announced that the college would accept the offer, and he requests the students to help him secure positive evidence of it, if such a thing really did occur. The story is that in the early part of the war a detachment of confederate troops in Missouri took about 400 Union prisoners. Twelve of these prisoners were lined up and shot without provocation by the confederate officers. Upon hearing of this act, the commander of the Federal regiment drafted twelve confederate prisoners to be shot in retaliation. As the line was being formed a young man named William Lear stepped forward and asked permission to take the place of one of the condemned men, who was his friend. The request was granted and Lear was shot in place of his friend."

General Uprising.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Mr. Warner Miller, of the Nicaragua Canal Construction company, said last night that he has been expecting for some time a general uprising in Central America. "Such an uprising, however," he added, "would not affect the Nicaragua canal interests. The United States government has always afforded us ample protection and all our grants and concessions have been given regularly by acts of congress, so that we have nothing to fear from any political overturning."

TICKET NAMED.

State Prohibition Convention Held at Indianapolis.

Nominate Candidates for State Officers and Decide Upon a "Broad-Gauge" Platform.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind, Feb. 28.—The state convention of the prohibition party was captured yesterday by the "broad gauge" faction. The resolutions denounce the liquor traffic, indorse the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold on a ratio of 16 to 1, favor an amendment to the constitution that will enable congress to pass an income tax law and ask for amendments to existing laws that will prevent competition of pauper European labor with American workmen.

Mrs. Helen M. Gougar offered a resolution declaring that the Nicholson temperance law is a sham and a fraud and that it shows that all nonpartisan efforts to regulate the liquor traffic are failures. Mrs. Gougar spoke in defense of her resolution, but it was laid on the table by a decided vote. There were few contests for the offices to be filled at the coming election, though as many as two or three names were sometimes presented for a single nomination. The following ticket was nominated:

Governor—Rev. E. G. Shouse, Vigo county.

Lieutenant-Governor—J. G. Kingsbury, Marion.

Secretary of State—J. E. Ellsworth, Adams.

Auditor of State—H. C. Hansen, Lake.

Treasurer—Sylvester Johnson, Marion.

Attorney-General— S. M. Saylor, Huntington.

Statistician—J. E. Woodard, Parks.

Reporter Supreme Court—V. P. Kirk, Marshall.

Superintendent Public Instruction—C. W. Lodgin, Wayne.

Ex-Governor St. John, of Kansas, was in attendance and insisted that the convention adopt the "broad gauge" platform—that is, endorse free silver in additon to demanding the absolute prohibition of the liquor traffic. He said he had attended many prohibition conventions, but had never attended a larger and better one than this. The convention was bound to have an influence upon the party politics of the nation. "We are not here to make any deals," said he. "We are here without war paint on." Just now, he said, there was much said about "narrow gauge" and 'broad gauge." The platform of the prohibition party would be as broad as the demands of humanity. The party was coming into power in this country. He believed that, instead of establishing inebriate asylums, the government should strike at the root of the evil. "You can not make an issue dominant by a platform resolution," said he. "It is not the importance of an issue that makes it dominant, but the number that gather around it. I believe prohibition was the important issue at the last election, but it lacked 11,000,000 votes of being the dominant issue. The tariff was the dominant issue."

The following are delegates to the national prohibition convention, selected at the district meetings:

First District—J. W. Emmons and J. M Daniels; Second, H. S. Bonsib and C. S. Dobbins; Third, Rev. E. L. Sanders and John W. Montgomery; Fourth, S. V. Wright and Ellen B. Wright; Fifth, Levi I. Hadley and W. M. Taylor; Sixth, G. W. Hagan and Aaron Worth; Seventh, S. B. McNaughton and B. L. Lockwood; Eighth, Sumner W. Haines and M. W. Hawkings; Ninth, D. F. Maish and L. M. Crist; Tenth, Helen M. Gougar and W. C. Court: Eleventh, William Lenfesty and G. D. Scott; Twelfth, D. F. Cain and I. W. Markey; Thirteenth, S. W. McClure and Joshua Collens.

The following are the delegates-at-large to the national convention: Rev. J. M. Daniel, Princeton; Helen K. Denny, Vincennes; Jesse B. Davis, Scotisburg; T. R. Woodard, Columbus; William Edgerton, Dunreith; D. G. Carter, Rosedale; F. King, Carmel; H. L. Davis, Lafayette; J. S. Nelson, Fort Wayne; G. W. Dutt, Columbia City; Eli Cobbeshall, Marion; Jesse B. Davis, Scottsburg

HIS RECORD BAD.

Lewis, the Deceased Bank Robber, Was a Tough.

Used to Live in Neosho, Neb., and Bore a Very Bad Reputation in That Town.

NEOSHO, Neb., Feb. 28.—The news of the bank robbery at Wichita Falls, Texas, in which Elmer Lewis, formerly of this place, was implicated, and for which he was lynched, has just reached this city. Lewis was a son of James Lewis, and had always lived here until about a year ago, when he went to the territory. Later he returned, and left last fall, taking with him his cousin, Miss Lulu Hunter. He was never known to be engaged in lawlessness to any consequence, but always wanted to convey the idea of being a bad man and the news caused no great surprise. His father is master mechanic in the Neosho foundry at this place and for a number of years has been leading a quiet life, although he was implicated in a highway robbery in this county a number of years ago, for which he served a sentence in the penitentiary. The authorities of Wichita have been authorized by the father to give him a decent burial, stating that he would pay all expenses. Nothing is known of the whereabouts of the young woman he took from here with him.

TWICE FINED.

Warwick's Plea That His Drunk Was Continuous Doesn't Save Him.

KOKOMO, Ind., Feb 28.—An interesting point in the saloon law was passed upon yesterday in a justice court here, after a long contest. Some time ago Harvey Warwick, a saloonkeeper, was arrested for intoxication, but resisted prosecution on the ground that it was the same drunk for which he was arrested the previous day, and that he could not be legally punished twice for the same offense. Able lawyers were employed on both sides, and the case was hotly contested. Warwick insisted that, being an old saloonkeeper and a good judge of liquor, he could tell what kind of a jag he had on and how long it took to get over it, being a continuous jag, with no new material added to the accumulation. 'Squire DeHaven ruled that, if it was all one drunk, it was big enough for two, and accordingly assessed a second fine, both arrests costing Warwick about $40.

WOMAN'S JEALOUSY

Causes Trouble in the Salvation Army.

CHICAGO, Feb 28.—The Record today says: "There are intimations that one woman's jealousy of another woman's success lies at the root of the trouble in the Salvation Army, and that the beautiful and intellectual Maud Billington Booth is the thorn in the flesh. Major Addie, of Springfield, commander of the Illinois division of the Salvation Army, and Major Stillwell, of Minneapolis, directing the forces in Minneapolis and northern Michigan, are in the city. A delegation of Salvationists met them on their return from the east and plied them with questions concerning the trouble between the Booths and the revolution in New York. Major Addie said: I don't know what the trouble is nor does any one else in the army but General Booth's immediate family. It is a family difficulty entirely and, being that, we look for an amicable adjustment of it all when the general gets home from India."

CONGRESSMAN LEIGHTY

Will Not Say That He Will Accept a Renomination.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 28.—Congressman Leighty, of Indiana, can not be induced to say whether or not he will be a candidate for congress, although the presumption is that he will again accept the nomination. He realizes, however, that the district is very close if not democratic, and he believes that whoever is nominated ought to secure the honor without any division or party sentiment. The Twelfth district is usually democratic by 3,000 plurality. Mr. Leighty realizes that his strongest local danger is in the nomination of a popular Allen county democrat. The man most prominently mentioned is J. M. Robinson, of Fort Wayne.

GOOD DETECTIVE WORK.

Bank Robber Traced Through Many Countries.

Stole $40,000 in Spain Ten Years Ago and Sleuthhounds Have Just Located Him.

GUANAJUATO, Mex., Feb. 28.—Juan P. Vertuga, a Spanish merchant, has been arrested at Ibarra, a mountain town north of here, on the charge of committing a bank robbery in Spain ten years ago. He is alleged to have stolen $40,000 and fled the country. He was traced to New York and thence through the western states of the United States, thence to Cuba and South America, and from the latter to Mexico. Vertuga has been living at Ibarra for two years and made a great display of wealth in the little town. He will be taken back to Spain.

FLYING MACHINE A FAILURE.

Farmer Naramore Makes Just One Trip and Now Needs Arnica.

UTICA, Mich., Feb. 28.—About four miles west of Utica lives Andrew Naramore, an aged farmer and inventor of no little genius. Some time ago Mr. Naramore decided to eclipse all his contemporaries in the inventive line by constructing a flying machine. This machine consisted of a huge pair of wings, which were propelled by motions of the arms, a pair of sails so constructed as somewhat to resemble the feet of a duck and fastened to the feet, and with a large rudder for steering. When everything was completed Mr. Naramore, who, by the way, weighs 300 pounds, climbed to the top of a shed to take a little trial trip around the barnyard. Reaching the peak, he carefully crept out to the end, and, raising the gigantic wings, dropped off—that is, Mr. Naramore thinks he dropped. He has only some slight recollections of what happened after he left the roof of the shed, until he found himself prone in the barnyard. Mr. Naramore has now given up the idea of a successful flying machine.

FAILURE AT BLUFFTON.

Shumaker & Co. Driven to the Wall by Drop in Prices.

BLUFFTON, Ind., Feb. 23.—The firm of S. F. Shumaker & Co., poultry and wholesale grocers, made an assignment yesterday, with C. H. Plessinger, of the Studabaker bank, as assignee. It is estimated that the assets are between $10 000 and $12 000, with liabilities of $80,000. The Studabaker bank and J. S. Sprowl, of Warren, hold chattel mortgages amounting to $8,000 and the remaining creditors will fare poorly. Shumaker & Co. did a business of $300,000 a year, with branches at Warren, Fort Wayne and Ramsey, Ill, and purchased produce at numerous points along the Clover Leaf railway. On January 1 the firm had 30,000 cases of eggs in cold storage in the eastern markets, which were bought at 17 cents a dozen. A drop in prices ensued and they were sold at 7 cents and 8 cents. The loss on eggs alone since the first of the year is estimated by Mr. Shumaker at $15,000.

MADE BIG HAULS.

The Police Raid Two Tough Joints.

Jerry Moriarity's Road House Visited—Ten Men and Five Women Captured by the Officers.

Fifteen names appeared on the docket in police court this morning, the largest number that has been there for many a day.

About midnight last night a telephone message called the police to the road house kept by Jerry Moriarity, back of Lindenwood cemetery. The message said there was was a boisterous crowd at the place making a tough show of themselves. Captain Borgman, Sergeant Daseler, Officers Dickson, Spillner and Elliott went out to pull the gang.

Ten people were found in the road house. There were seven men and three women. They were indulging in a high kicking exhibition and other disgusting orgies. All were loaded up in the patrol wagon and taken to the station.

The names they gave were as follows: William McVinton, Henry Smith, Phillip Kenedy, John Brown, Alexander Thompson, James Monroe, James Allen, Emma Eddings, Georgie Weber and Josie Smith.

McVinton, Brown, Thompson, Monroe and Allen put up $15 50 apiece at the station and were released. This morning some young fellow, who was said to be a lover, called at the police station and paid a fine for Emma Eddings and she was turned out. Josie Smith and Georgie Weber plead guilty to prostitution and were sent to jail for fifteen days. They appeared in court wearing thick, heavy black veils so that they could not be recognized. Frank Smith pleaded not guilty to associating with prostitutes, but the evidence convicted him and he went over with the girls for fifteen days.

At 3 o'clock this morning a man named Gindelsbarger, who lives at No 1 Monroe street, reported at the police station that there was a tough quartet in a room at his house. The room belongs to a woman, she having rented it, and Gindelsbarger said the parties were in that room. Sergeant Jewell and Officer Elliott made the raid and captured two men and two girls. One of the girls, Frankie Wright, paid her fine of $15 50, as did also the two men, William Jones and Harry Hittle. The other girl, Fanny Dillon, pleaded guilty to prostitution and went to jail for fifteen days.

At 7 o'clock this morning Officers Hines, Patton and Tanner went to Moriarity's road house and placed the proprietor under arrest and brought him to the police station where he was locked up until court time. He was charged with keeping a house of ill fame and also with keeping his saloon open after 11 o'clock at night. His bartender, Philip Kennedy, was charged with associating with prostitutes and also with keeping the saloon open after 11 o'clock. Attorney E. V. Emerick appeared for Moriarity and Kennedy and asked for a change of venue. Mayor Oakley sent the cases to Squire Alex McDaniel, in Washington township, and they will be tried at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Moriarity is the man with whom the police have had much trouble in the last few months. He was refused a city saloon license by the mayor and appealed to court to compel the mayor to grant the license. The case is still in court. Moriarity has a government license.

Mrs. Booth Ill.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Mrs. Ballington Booth is ill at her home in Mount Clair, N. J., as a consequence of the recent worry in connection of the removal of Mr. Booth from the command of the Salvation army in the United States.

Mrs. H. E. Anderson entertained the Exchange club yesterday afternoon with a poverty luncheon, which was both original and unique. The ladies were invited to come and bring their mending and something to eat prepared by themselves. Work was exchanged by the different ladies, some deftly putting a patch or sewing buttons upon her friends garment while others neatly darned the socks of some other woman's leige lord. The prize, a handsome jardinere, was awarded Mrs. S. J. Hall for turning over best sample of work in shape of a neatly darned pair of socks, while Miss Marguerite Wilson gained the booby prize—a book entitled "Care of the Wardrobe," by failing to properly mend a pair of trousers. This club is the one which started the Ladies Exchange on Broadway several years ago. The Exchange has changed hands several times since the club gave it up, Miss Goshorn being the present proprietress The club will hold the election of officers at the home of Mrs Hughes, Thursday, March 5.

$1,000 REWARD

Offered by a Man for His Missing Wife.

Circular Received by the Police—Charles Timony Claims He Was Thrown From a Train.

The police have received a circular from Chicago offering $1,000 reward for the recovery of Mrs. Arthur B. Cody, the wife of a prominent young business man of that city. Mrs. Cody mysteriously disappeared while on a visit to her parents at Tacoma, Wash., on January 31, and has not been heard of since. She is about thirty years of age and very handsome. The circular states that Mrs. Cody was mentally depressed when she disappeared.

THROWN FROM A TRAIN.

Charles Timony, who claims his home is in East Carrolton, Ohio, tried to steal a ride out of the city yesterday on a Pittsburg train. He had gone as far as Broadway when he says some man who claimed to be a railroad detective threw him off the moving train. His face was badly cut by the fall and a physician had to be called to attend him. Timony reported the matter to the police and threatens to proceed against the party who threw him off if he can find out who it was.

CHASED A BURGLAR.

About 2 o'clock this morning Officer Spillner discovered a burglar in the tailor shop of Charles Scheffler, on West Main street, near Harrison. The burglar also discovered the officer and ran. A lively chase followed but the fellow got away by running through the Nickel Plate yards in Nebraska. Nothing was stolen at Scheffler's establishment.

ASSAULTED.

A well known young man was walking toward home on West Superior street this afternoon when two men leaped from an alley brutally assaulting him. He does not know whether robbery was intended or not. His face and head were badly cut and pounded. He has sworn out warrants for his assailants but their names were not made public.

GRATIFYING RESULTS.

Interesting Experiments with the New Stomach Remedy.

Not a Patent Medicine, But a Safe Cure for All Forms of Indigestion.

The results of recent investigation, have established, beyond question, the great value of the new preparation for indigestion and stomach troubles; it is composed of the digestive acids, pepsin, bismuth, Golden Seal and similar stomachics, prepared in the form of 20 grain lozenges, pleasant to the taste, convenient to carry when traveling, harmless to the most delicate stomach, and probably the safest, most effectual cure yet discovered for indigestion, sour stomach, loss of appetite and flesh, nausea, sick headaches, palpitation of heart, and the many symptoms arising from imperfect digestion of food. They cure because they cause the food to be promptly and thoroughly digested before it has time to sour, ferment and poison the blood and nervous system.

Judge Frank Ives, of District Court of Crookston, Minn., says: For some time I have used Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets with seeming great benefit, with few exceptions, I have not been so free from indigestion in twenty-five years.

Geo. W. Roosevelt, U. S. Consul to Brussels, Belgium: Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, safe, pleasant to take, convenient to carry, give keen appetite, perfect digestion.

Mr. W. D. Tomlin, Mechanical Engineer, Duluth, Minn.: One box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets has done its work, and I am again gaining flesh and strength.

O. E. Ransom, Hustonville, Ky.: I was distressed and annoyed for two years with throwing up food, often two or three times a day; had no certainty of retaining a meal if I ate one. Four boxes of the tablets from my druggist, have fully cured me. I find them pleasant to take, convenient to carry.

Rev. G. D. Brown, Mondovi, Wis.: The effect of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is simply marvellous; a quite hearty dinner of broiled beef steak causes no distress since I began their use.

Over six thousand people in the state of Mich. alone in 1894 were cured of stomach troubles by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Full sized packages may be found at all druggists at 50c., or sent by mail on receipt of price from Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

An educational qualification is now required of men seeking enlistment in the United States army.

The prohibitionists are first in the field with a ticket in this state. Their platform is a "broad gauge" one.

Up to date there is no need for using the X rays to ascertain whether or not the backbone of winter is broken.

The agreeable and friendly candidate is abroad in the land. Get ready to receive a vigorous handshake from him.

Politicians at the state capital say it is practically settled that Judge Wm. S. Holman will be nominated for congress by the democrats of the Fourth district.

The republicans are having about as hot a fight over their delegates from this district to the national convention as the democrats are having about their mayoralty candidate.

Governor Matthews has completely silenced the fellows who have been claiming that he is in favor of free coinage at the ratio of 16 to 1. He also says that he will not be a presidential candidate on such a platform

Francis Murphy has joined the prohibition party and declares that he will be found hand and hand with that party until the last saloon is closed. Mr. Murphy expresses himself as being disgusted with the attitude of the old party leaders who, he says, harmonize the temperance people just enough to get their votes.

A close friend of Dr. Chauncey M. Depew is authority for the statement that "Our Chauncey" has recently ordered 10,000 lithographic portraits of himself. They are taken from a painting of him, it is said, by Frank Carpenter, the artist. What is Dr. Depew going to do with them? is a question that will naturally suggest itself. As a Morton delegate-at-large to St. Louis Depew can hardly expect to make use of them, unless he is preparing to advance for some unexpected developments.

There comes from South Dakota the rumble of civil strife. Senator Pettigrew demands election as a delegate to St. Louis, and will not brook refusal. He wants to expound there the free silver theory in terms that will make the "goldbugs" shudder. Despite all this he may be left at home.

In London public sentiment is clearly in sympathy with Dr. Jameson. He is a hero in the eyes of the English masses. He might have enjoyed the approval of the government if he had succeeded in overturning the south African republic. His case may yet perplex the Salisbury government considerably.

Of course the United States government must act when formally notified that enemies of a friendly nation are fitting out a filibustering expedition in a United States port. But it does seem as if the government might move slowly when the filibusters are going to the aid of the Cuban patriots, who are struggling for liberty.

Silver democrats in Indianapolis have organized a Democratic Silver league. Hon. Franklin Landers, democratic candidate for governor in 1880, is president. Senator Romeo Stewart is an active member of the new organization. There is a very strong silver sentiment among the democrats of Indianapolis, and they propose to make themselves felt in the election of delegates to the county, district and state conventions.

There are many people who, having found how difficult it is to respond to a call for a speech, will sympathize with the Maine man the Lewiston Journal tells of, who attempted to speak in a town meeting on a subject that greatly interested him. "Fellow citizens," he sang out lustily, as he rose—"fellow citizens,"—a long and embarassing pause, and then he added: "If I only had the ideas I ought to have on this subject, and had the words to express those ideas, I think I could relieve my feelings." How the crowd cheered as he sat down!

The falling of Ash Wednesday on February 19 this year will bring Easter to us on April 5, a somewhat early date, and Ascension Thursday on May 14, with Pentecost on May 23 and Trinity on the last day of the same month. Eleven years ago Easter came on the same date as it will upon this year, and in the closing year of the century it will come three days earlier It may, as it is well known, come as early as March 23 and as late as the corresponding date in April, but they are exceptional years when it falls on either of these dates. They who are alive, though, on April 23, 1905 will hear the Easter anthems rendered in the churches on that Sunday.

The order issued by the Cincinnati jail officials forbidding entrance to the premises of morbid visitors to see the murderers of Pearl Bryan will be indorsed by all right thinking men. One of the most inexplicable as well as dangerous tendencies of the time is the growth of sympathy for criminals, and the curiosity which brought thousands of people to the Cincinnati jail last week is akin to sympathy, for it feeds the vanity of its object quite as much. In his Chicago speech the other day Theodore Roosevelt said: "When this nation realizes the duty it owes its citizens then we will see the time when sympathy goes out to the lawabiding, not to the lawless." May the approach of that period be expedited should be the prayer of the public, and the Cincinnati incident is welcomed because it indicates the coming.

Not even in the flush days of California were mining operations so active in this country as they are now. Indeed all over the world mining properties are having the greatest boom known in history. It is significant of the times that the buying and selling of mines are conducted through syndicate operations. A great company of capitalists is formed. Some are large capitalists—most of them, in fact—but others are men of little means. But, small or great, they organize a company, divide its stock into shares, get the shares subscribed for, then negotiate with mine owners for the sale of their property. When the mine is bought, immediately stamp mills and very expensive plants of machinery are erected, and the work of extracting the ore begins. A great amount of money is required. It is a fact that the small single operator has little opportunity now. Unless he has capital enough to join a syndicate, he must be content to work for wages as the servant of a syndicate. In Europe and America the popular tide has set toward mining shares for investment as well as speculation. The English are especially active. In every city of the American Union are corporations or members of corporations for operating mines. A syndicate of St. Louis capitalists has recently reopened for active operation a number of California's old mines in half a dozen of the mountain counties.

A wonderful electric bottle labeling machine has been invented. It will paste the labels on 36,000 bottles in a day. The attraction of static electricity picks up one by one the labels from a pile and holds each till a revolving paste roller comes by and licks it. Then the bottle comes rolling along by a further move of this astonishing machine, when the label is let loose from its electrical attraction. It sticks fast to the bottle and is carried along with it to give place to the next.

The best guarantee for the whole world's future peace is not an actual formal alliance, but a thorough good understanding and spirit of friendliness between the two great English speaking nations of the globe, Great Britain and the United States.

"All business interests must necessarily be subordinated to the superior claims of the honor and safety of the nation," says a writer. Just so.

LABRADOR THE NEXT

EXPLORING EXPEDITION TO LEAVE PHILADELPHIA IN JUNE.

To Study the Eskimo and Collect Flora and Fauna—College Students In the Party. Lieutenant Peary's Old Ship, the Kite, to Take the Party—To Return In a Year.

An expedition bound for the interior of Labrador will leave Philadelphia in June for the purpose of studying the Eskimo and collecting specimens of the flora and fauna of that region. G. H. Perkins of the class of '95, University of Pennsylvania, will be the commander, and the remainder of the party will consist of four students of zoology, geology, botany and archæology and a number of college students and others.

Professor Frank Russell, curator of the University of Iowa, accompanies the expedition as archæologist.

The trip from St. John's, N. F., to Labrador will be made in the ship Kite. At St. John's the Philadelphia party will be joined by ten scientists sent out to explore the coast of Ellesmere Land, and also to discover traces of the ancestors of the Greenlanders, who, it is thought, came from that place. Professor Hite of the University of Pennsylvania, who is the originator of the expedition, said: "The party will leave Philadelphia about the middle of June. The ten scientists who will join our party at St. John's will be sent out by Dr. C. T. Mendenhall, superintendent of the United States coast geological survey; General A. W. Greely, Baron von Saurma-Jeltsch, J. A. W. Grip, envoy extraordinary from Germany to Norway and Sweden; J. W. Powel, director United States geological survey, and Baron Adolf Eric Nordenskjold of the Royal Academy of Science, Sweden.

"These persons have supplied the wherewithal for the researches of the scientists for a period of one year. The Kite, after leaving St. John's, will cruise around the gulf of St. Lawrence, making collections at the south coast of Labrador, visiting the island of Anticosti for Eskimo remains, and will then go north along the eastern coast of Labrador as far as Cape Chidley. Parties will be left at various points along the coast, supplied with tools and equipments necessary for their researches. At Clarence head, in James sound, Ellesmere land, it is proposed to leave the ten scientists, who will erect winter quarters and a general supply station there. They will make explorations until the six months of darkness come on, when they will return to Clarence head, starting out again in the spring. It is expected to explore at least 300 miles of Ellesmere Land, which in all probability is the original home of the ancestors of the present Greenland Eskimo, who must have crossed to Greenland over 1,000 years ago. Of these people the scientists are desirous of finding traces.

"The Kite will return to Labrador, picking up the various parties, and then keep on to St. John's, arriving about Sept. 12. She will return in 1897, carrying the same number of people and for the same purpose and will bring home the party of scientists from Ellesmere Land.

Professor Hite said that the university cruise to India in September would prevent his accompanying the expedition to Labrador.—Philadelphia Press.

"OUR MR. ELIJAH A. MORSE."

Members of Congress Have Fun With That Gentleman.

Several members of the house were having a good deal of quiet fun yesterday afternoon at the expense of Mr. Morse. They had in some way obtained possession of a circular advertising letter sent out by the stove polish firm of which he is the founder and head.

The communication is on a sheet surmounted by the letter head of the company, with a picture of the establishment where the polish is manufactured. The contents of the letter paper are of the most legitimate advertising character and set forth in detail the superiority and paramount merits of the polish. At the bottom is a four line postscript stating that "our Mr. Elijah A. Morse" is a member of congress and should the recipient of the letter desire any documents or information from the national capital he would be glad to serve him.—Washington Times.

A POOR BOY CAMPAIGN.

Whoever Is Nominated the Real American Aristocracy Will Be Represented.

Whoever is nominated as the Republican candidate for the presidency we shall have "a poor boy" campaign. Governor Morton is the son of a Presbyterian parson and was earning his own living when he was 15 years old. Senator Quay is also the son of a Presbyterian parson down in the mining regions of Pennsylvania and worked his own way through college. Senator Cullom was raised on a Kentucky farm.

Senator Allison's parents were also farmers, pioneers on the western reserve, and he earned what education he got. Speaker Reed's family were well to do, but he also worked for a living when a mere boy, and the same can be said of Major McKinley. Therefore the genuine American aristocracy is represented by all the candidates.—William E. Curtis in Chicago Record.

The Good Man's Imitative Dog.

"I have a dog," said a minister who had just heard a precocious story, "that is very sagacious. One Saturday he followed me to church and sat among the people and watched my movements in the pulpit. That afternoon I heard a terrible howling in my back yard and of course went to see what it meant. I found my dog was in the wood shed standing on his hind legs in a dry goods box. He held down a torn almanac with one paw and gesticulated with the other while he swayed his head and howled to an audience of four other dogs even more

MERRY MEDICINE WAR.

Chicago Druggists to Make Patent Cures of Their Own.

A factory for making remedies similar in nature to the proprietary medicines now on the market is to be started in Chicago by retail druggists. A large majority of the pharmacists are interested, and they hope to drive the medicine makers from the field.

The retail druggists have formed the United States Pharmaceutical company and have issued stock to the amount of $20,000. Almost all of this has been taken up by prominent pharmacists.

The formation of the company was the outgrowth of a recommendation made by the Illinois Pharmacists' association. The members of that association said that nothing could be done to check the cutting in prices, and that druggists must enter the field as manufacturers. As a result 250 of the retailers of Chicago met and formed a company. In two weeks more than 250 Chicago names have been added to those of the organizers, and from the state at large 100 more have come.

Their object is to fight in a practical way the cutting of prices of drugs and medicines handled by department stores and to combat at the same time the sale of medicines by the manufacturers and wholesale dealers to these stores.

Hereafter when a person wants a dose to cure a headache and asks for the remedy usually taken the druggist will advise him to take something not only "just as good," but scientifically better, because it has been compounded by a committee of physicians and druggists of the highest reputation. The same thing will be told the man who wants a blood purifier or a plaster.

CHANGES AT HARVARD.

Vote by the Faculty to Reduce Length of Study In the College.

For two weeks there has been a sharp debate in the Harvard faculty on the proposition to reduce the course of study in the college from four to three years. The Sun reporter learned on the best authority that some action was taken at the last faculty meeting, and President Eliot, when asked concerning the matter, admitted that fact. He said the faculty had voted by a small majority to reduce the number of courses required for a degree from 18 to 15, and that the idea was that any man who had passed 12 of the 15 courses with credit should receive his degree.

This means a three years' course for the college and a dissolution of all the class lines and class feeling. The majority in favor of the motion, however, was so small that the vote was not considered final. The scheme will have to be approved by the corporation and board of overseers before it can go into effect. Members of the faculty who opposed the plan think that the action would be a mistake and predict that if it passes favorably it will bring on a storm of indignation from graduates.—New York Sun.

SAVED BY THE GIRLS.

New Jersey Skater Rescued by Female Heroism and Originality.

John Mitchell, a well known young man, broke through the ice while skating on Speedwell lake near Morristown, N. J. The water was deep and cold, and Mitchell screamed for help as he struggled for life. Several young women who witnessed the accident went to his assistance and by prompt and original plans began a scheme to rescue him.

Several excited young men skated up intent on brave deeds, full of suggestions, but devoid of plans. The young women pushed them out of the way without ceremony and set about to work out Mitchell's salvation by their own methods. Two of the girls lay down on the ice and the others held on their dresses while they reached into the water and seized the drowning man by the arms. Considerable vigorous pulling resulted in bringing Mitchell out upon the stronger ice, where he soon recovered his breath and went home to thaw out.—New York Recorder.

RICHES FOR LORD SHOLTO.

Young Douglas Reported to Have Fallen Heir to $3,000,000.

Mrs. Addis-Mooney, mother-in-law of Lord Sholto Douglas, says that by the death of an uncle, Rev. Archibald Douglas, in London, Sholto will come into about $3,000,000. "We received the good news by cable yesterday," she said. "It merely announced the death of Rev. Archibald Douglas and said that there was money for Sholto, but I know all about it. His uncle was a very wealthy priest, and Sholto is his sole heir. Sholto is now in the southern part of the state, but will be here in a few days. He knows nothing about his good luck yet. The cablegram came to our home in Oakland, and Lady Douglas, who is now with me, opened it. We will telegraph to Sholto tomorrow. Of course Sholto and his wife will now give up the stage. Though they have made a big success, it would be foolish for them to work when they can live without working."—New York World.

MRS. CLEVELAND'S WEIGHT.

The Lady of the White House Surprises Her Friends.

People who knew Frances Folsom as a slight young schoolgirl and have not enjoyed the privilege of seeing her since are altogether not prepared for the development which has taken place since her marriage. Mrs. Cleveland has acquired additional weight almost imperceptibly, but none the less surely. It does not detract in the slightest degree from her charming presence, and many of her friends believe that with her carriage the added weight was almost necessary.

Some of Mrs. Cleveland's most intimate friends have been particularly curious of late to know how much she actually weighed, but they were not altogether prepared for the statement she made the other day to one of her friends that she now tipped the scales at exactly 196 pounds.—New York World.

Alligator In an Oyster.

Frank Yoder, a grocer in Hazleton, Pa., while opening oysters the other day found a young alligator in one. It was alive and frisky, and the only deformity was the absence of its hind legs. Mr. Yoder will send the reptile to the Academy of Natural Sciences in Philadelphia.—Philadelphia Press.

Indications Hopeful.

"Dear father," wrote the young man who had gone to the far west and hung up his shingle as a physician, "there is a great deal of sickness here, of one kind and another, and I hope soon, by the blessing of Providence, to have plenty of work to do in my profession."—Chicago Tribune.

Probably Has Not Occurred to Him.

"If the British lion," chuckled the American eagle, "is hurrying to discover the south pole so he can wrap his tail around it and take possession, let him go ahead. The revolution of the earth on its axis will give his tail the hardest twist it has ever had yet."—Chicago Tribune.

A REGION OF WONDER

THE MYSTERIOUS COUNTRY NEAR THE SCHOMBURGK LINE.

High Plateau With Precipitous Sides Which Modern Man Has Been Unable to Scale—May Contain Prehistoric Animals and Trees—Proposed as a Park.

Perhaps the result of the Venezuela boundary commission's work will be the solving of one of the most remarkable geological enigmas in the world and the exploration of what is regarded as a unique natural wonderland. This remarkable region is a number of elevated and isolated areas of land, situated on what the British call British Guiana's southwestern boundary, which is in the disputed territory. It is on the British side of the Schomburgk line. A British Guiana newspaper describes this region, as far as it is known, and expresses the hope that the final settlement of the boundary controversy will leave it well within British bounds. Should there be another result, however, the newspaper says, the region should be made an international park, something on the plan of the Yellowstone park reservation.

The region is called by the Indians "Roraima," but the several isolated areas are known by distinctive names. Each consists of what might be called an isolated mountain, but is really a tableland, comprising an area of 100 or more square miles, elevated several thousand feet above the surrounding country. The rocky sides of the mountains are as perpendicular as the Hudson river Palisades and entirely bare of vegetation and have defied all attempts to scale them. The level summits are covered with trees and other vegetation, and down the rocky sides fall a large number of cascades of considerable size, indicating the certain existence of rivers and streams on the mysterious summits, and probably of lakes that feed the rivers. The summits have been observed with telescopes, and are known to be as full of plant life as the tropical plains below, but beyond this nothing is known.

Because so little is known of the condition of these tablelands occasion is given for all manner of speculation as to what exists there. That the vegetation is quite different from that on the plains below the telescope shows, and that it should be so is quite natural, as the tablelands are 2,000 or more feet higher than the plains. While the climate of the plains is tropical, that of the tablelands must be temperate, not only because of their elevation, but also because of the free play the winds have about them.

Of the geology of the region this explanation is given: This part of South America rose slowly from the sea, through successive and remote ages. The Roraima mountains were formed precisely as was the rest of the land, and are not the result of volcanic action. Hence they must have been above the ocean long before the surrounding plains appeared. They stood 2,000 feet above the sea level when the neighboring mountain tops were but islands in the ocean. In the course of a period, difficult to appreciate, the adjacent valleys and plains appeared above the water and became covered with vegetation and animal life. But the isolated plateaus of Roraima had a tremendous start of the plains below. Here comes the alleged ground for the speculation that perhaps on these mysterious summits there exist flora and fauna unlike any found elsewhere, forms of life that long since disappeared from other parts of the world, but remained the same on these summits because unaffected by the influences of communication with the outer world. All sorts of wild guesses have been hazarded regarding the existence of strange reptiles and animals among the streams and forests of Roraima.

The cascades falling from the summits are among the highest in the world. One is 2,000 feet high, and is broad enough to be visible 30 miles away. It falls sheer, without a break. The mountains from which these cascades fall form the dividing watersheds of the Amazon, the Orinoco and the Essequibo, the three great rivers of South America, and the waters of the cascades flow some to one and some to another of these rivers. It is argued that to supply these waterfalls there must be a considerable body of water on the mountain plateaus, and it is natural to conclude that where there are large bodies of water there are fish and reptiles. The resulting conclusion that, because these fish and reptiles must have been isolated on the mountain tops for ages they are likely to be different from any known species, is regarded as quite natural. The mountain plateaus form practically little countries by themselves like islands, but more isolated because the ocean of air that surrounds them does not afford the facilities for communication with other islands that the waters of the ocean do.

One of these plateaus, known as Kukenham, which is better situated for observation than any of the others, is estimated to have an area of 200 square miles or more. The smallest, which bears the name common to the group, Roraima, is estimated to contain 80 to 140 square miles.

The story of this mysterious region is not new, at least in British Guiana. It is many years since any scientific men were in the region, but chance travelers and gold prospectors happen there at odd times, and when they return to Demerara they add their little store of information and mystification to the rest. Schomburgk pointed out the great importance of the region to Great Britain, as it is the dividing watershed, but the writer in the British Guiana newspaper does not say whether the exploring botanist had much to say about the wonders and mysteries of the Roraima region.—New York Sun.

OUR FOREIGN TRADE.

The Way In Which Our Export of Manufactures Should Be Built Up.

To work up a demand and properly to introduce our manufactured goods in foreign markets require greater energy and aptitude than in selling cereals, provisions and raw materials, for the reason that it becomes necessary to cater to the tastes and overcome the prejudices of consumers, while in the case of raw materials the exporter deals only with wholesalers and manufacturers, who themselves convert the products into manufactured articles suitable to the wants of their people. Hence a manufacturer and exporter must expend much time, labor and money to introduce his wares abroad, requiring a large preliminary outlay and careful study of the wants of the different markets, coupled with untiring energy and perseverance. Returns and profits are necessarily slow. That frequently discourages exporters in their first efforts, and causes them to abandon the attempt to introduce their goods in competition with others already well known and established in the market they seek to enter.

The prejudices of foreigners are difficult to overcome, but the energy and ingenuity of our business men who go abroad to cultivate new markets should be equal to the occasion and capable of overcoming all obstacles. With our inexhaustible natural resources, improved machinery and inventions of all kinds, and an increasing supply of skilled labor every year, this country is capable of making rapid strides in the expansion of its foreign export trade, provided our capitalists, manufacturers and merchants give it the thought and attention that it deserves. If only one-half of the capital, energy and attention that is now absorbed in manipulating stocks, trusts, questionable mining companies, and other inflated schemes was devoted to the development of legitimate manufacturing enterprises, and to seeking consumers for their products abroad, the country would become more and more prosperous each year, and be able to provide employment for her skilled artisans, whose labor is the foundation and mainstay of her wealth.—"Our Foreign Trade," by Fenton T. Newberry, in Century.

NOVEL HEADACHE CURE.

Which Proves That It's an Ill Wind That Blows Nobody Good.

The latest "cure" suggested for the relief of headache is a hair cut. A certain physician in London has met with great success lately in his treatment of persistent cases of "nervous" headaches, and he has finally disclosed the secret.

In each case, he says, after the patient had laid bare a long tale of woe—of sleepless nights and miserable days—he prescribed, briefly, a simple hair cut. It is not necessary that the hair should be cropped off short, after the fashion of convicts.

The curative property of the treatment is based on the fact that the tube which is contained in each single hair is severed in the process, and the brain "bleeds," as the barbers say, thereby opening a safety valve for the congested cranium. A commentator in the London society press, in referring to this cure, says:

"Try the cure when next attacked by headache, and if the result be not satisfactory rest assured that it is not the fault of the prescription, but that the head is so wooden that it 'wooden't' act."

A NOVEL FETE.

Women to Saw Two Hundred and Fifty Cords of Wood to Build a Church.

In and about Equinunk and Little Equinunk, Wayne county, Pa., the men are hardy, big hearted mountaineers and tradesmen. The women are good looking, healthy and intelligent.

The members of the Methodist church are endeavoring to raise funds to build a new church and have a peculiar contract with the Equinunk Chemical company, which owns one of the largest wood acid factories in this country.

The women of the church have agreed to cut and pile 250 cords of wood for the company at $1 per cord.

The idea is attracting attention throughout the section and promises to provide a fete week for Equinunk people.

The invitation was sent out by Minnie Sherwood, June Southwell and May Butterfield. It asks the women to bring an ax, saw, two wedges and a good sized maul, the job to be done in a workmanlike manner. Already many women have decided to take part and are sharpening their axes.—New York World.

To Keep Store Windows From Freezing.

Storekeepers were skeptical when assured a year ago that an electrical fan, kept in constant motion in a show window, would prevent the formation of frost on the windows, thus rendering useless the elaborate displays of goods, which they were often at great expense to make. A single trial proved that the device was effective, and during the recent cold weather the little fans were noted buzzing industriously in the clear windows of many Sixth avenue and Twenty-third street and Broadway stores.—New York Journal.

Lincoln's Height.

The admirable speech of Hon. Thomas B. Reed in your paper of Feb. 9 contains one error which I would like to correct. Mr. Reed says Mr. Lincoln was 6 feet 4 inches in height. Mr. Lincoln told my father that he was exactly 6 feet 3 inches only a short time before his tragic death. Mr. Lincoln was very fond of tall men, and generally knew their exact height and never hesitated to say, "I am exactly 6 feet 3."—Emma Gurley Adams in New York Press.

Candidate For the Wickedest Town.

The Rev. William Gill, who has just completed a two weeks' revival in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., resulting in the conversion of nearly 1,000 persons, says Poughkeepsie is the wickedest place in which he has ever conducted meetings. He received for his work more than $600 in contributions, but it is said he expected $1,000. During the services 250 hymnbooks belonging to Mr. Gill were stolen. The committee paid him $60 for them.

General Agnus as an Author.

General Felix Agnus, editor of the Baltimore American, read before the Army and Navy club of Washington the other evening his novelette entitled "A Woman of War," a southern war sketch founded on an incident which occurred when General Agnus was one of Major General Banks' famous "forlorn hope" before Port Hudson. The story has been dramatized, and is now in rehearsal for the legitimate stage.

A Lumber Item.

Ten years ago the logs in Wisconsin ran four or five to 1,000 feet of lumber. Now 12, 15 and even 20 logs are required to furnish as much. In five years the decrease in diameter of the pine trees cut for lumber has been 35 per cent.

A LONG CAREER OF CRIME.

For Forty-five Years Brockway Has Been a Forger and Counterfeiter.

The recent trial and conviction at Trenton of William E. Brockway and his gang of counterfeiters, in which the secretary of the treasury was a witness, was one of the most notable criminal cases of recent times, as Brockway himself is one of the most notable criminals. He has the appearance of a venerable and respected church member. He is 74 years of age. As a lad he was apprenticed to a printer of state bank notes. He studied chemistry at Yale.

His career as a forger and counterfeiter began in 1850. He was arrested by the government in October, 1880, for the forgery of $304,000 United States 6 per cent $1,000 bonds. For this he was sentenced to 30 years in prison, but upon his surrendering all his counterfeiting tools and giving valuable information concerning similar swindles sentence was suspended.

He was arrested again in 1883 for forging Morris and Essex railroad bonds and sentenced to five years in state prison. The suspended sentence was, for some reason, not enforced against him.

Brockway lived for many years under the name of Spencer at 264 Clermont avenue, Brooklyn, with his wife, son and daughter. He passed as a sea captain, and his absences from home were accounted for as "voyages." The family were members of Dr. Baker's Church of the Messiah, and Brockway himself frequently attended the services there.

He was supposed to be an eminently respectable member of society until he quarreled with his wife and, it is said, shot her. Soon afterward he was arrested for crossing the Wall street "dead line," and his real character was disclosed. It is said that his family, up to that time, had been in ignorance of his real business, supposing him to be an honest engraver and printer.

The details of the arrest at Hoboken last fall of Brockway and his accomplices are well known. The detectives captured $200,000 in Canadian notes, with only the reverse side printed; $300,000 in United States gold certificates, nearly finished, and fiber paper prepared for printing $400,000 more. It is said that the counterfeiters were backed by some of the wealthiest and cleverest criminals in the country.

Preacher Drank Whisky at a Funeral.

Rev. Jesse J. Roseberry, a prominent Baptist minister of Central City, W. Va., was arrested for drinking while in a funeral procession. The day was very cold, and the minister, while near the center of the town, turned his vehicle to one side, and, pulling a flask of whisky from his pocket, took a drink. Marshal Griffith, who chanced to be near at the time, arrested the minister, and he was taken before Mayor Hall, and, in addition to a fine, the mayor delivered him a rigid lecture. After paying the fine the minister drove at a rapid rate toward the cemetery, and on arriving there found that the procession had been waiting for him for almost half an hour. The minister claims that his physician prescribed the whisky, and that he was going according to directions. He is 54 years of age and has been preaching for 27 years.

"Some fellers as is interested in silver wants silver money," remarked Plodding Pete thoughtfully, "while others thinks gold is right. I've even heard of fellers thet wanted to deposit wheat an things an git currency fur 'em."

He Was Making Money.

"I was amused at the answer I received to a question on a Chicago and Alton railroad train," said E. P. Chapman at the Howard House. "At Bloomington two men entered the train and took a seat immediately in front of me. I did not see them come in and paid no attention to them until one of the men went into the smoking car. It then occurred to me that I wanted to know something about Bloomington as a business point, so, leaning forward, I commenced a conversation.

"'I see you got on at Bloomington. How is it as a business point?'

"'Fairly good.'

"'Were you in business there?'

"'Yes.'

"'What line?'

"'Making money.'

"'Are you going to Chicago?'

"'No, I am moving to Joliet. It is not so good a point for me as Bloomington, but I had a chance to take a steady contract there for five years, and I took it. There is too much uncertainty in the money making business.'

"Then I noticed that he was handcuffed to the seat. He had told me the exact truth—he was going to Joliet penitentiary five years for counterfeiting."—Washington Star.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

The Plans for the Electric Works' Addition Arrive.

A Man and a Boy Badly Injured at Forest, Ohio—Walked Off a Train.

The plans and specifications for the proposed addition to the electric works have arrived and estimates on the cost of the building and its equipment are now being made. The building will be a two story brick, and will cost about $40,000. The machinery, including hoisting and traveling cranes, line shafting, boilers and engines, will probably cost double that amount, making the total about $125 000. Mr. McDonald has not yet fully decided to make the improvement, but it is sincerely hoped he may do so soon.

TWO ACCIDENTS.

John Ferrell, supposed to be a tramp, lost a leg at Forest, Ohio, last evening by falling under the wheels while attempting to jump on Pittsburg train No. 70. Conductor Ronk picked the unfortunate man up and turned him over to the Forest authorities. A few hours before this accident occurred a nine-year-old boy, whose parents reside in Forest, fell under the wheels of a Big Four train and had both legs cut off at the knees. He was still living when our informant last heard from him, but the chances for his recovery are very slim. This accident was witnessed by some Pittsburg trainmen who were greatly shocked by it.

C. M. Murray, of the Chicago and Alton, and C. A. Hartwell, of the Santa Fe, traveling passenger agents, are in the city looking up business.

A SOMNAMBULIST INJURED

Yesterday morning Aaron Cross was picked up alongside the track of the Nickel Plate railroad, near Burkett. He was unconscious and taken to the poor house. An examination showed that he had his collar bone broken in two places, his shoulder blade dislocated and a couple of ribs fractured. He was badly bruised about the body, and will probably die. Cross was on the incoming train, No. 2, that arrived there about 3:39 yesterday morning, and was asleep in his seat. A brakeman called "Burkett," and it is supposed he walked off the train while half awake. It was nearly 7 o'clock when he was found by another train crew.

THREATENS SUIT AGAINST THE COMPANY.

George Waldschmidt, an employe of the Pittsburg shops, threatens to bring suit against the United States Benevolent society, of Saginaw, Mich., to compel them to pay him $15, alleged to be due on account of being incapacitated by a lame back, which was due to accident. Mr. Waldschmidt holds Dr. M I Rosenthal's certificate that he was unfit for duty from February 5 to 20, and states that the insurance company refused to pay him on the grounds that he was too old to receive indemnity for injuries to his back. According to his policy he is entitled to $7 50 for each week of disability.

Rev. R. R. Garrett, a Baptist minister at Chattanooga, has issued a circular asking the delegates to the Southern Baptist association, the meeting of which is to be held in Louisville, to boycott the Southern railway because it does not give as low a rate to the Baptists as it did to the Epworth league of the Methodists.

The Findlay, Fort Wayne and Western road is delivering considerable eastbound freight to the Pittsburg at this point at present. This morning that line took five new 60 000 pound capacity grain cars to Ottawa, where they will be loaded with corn, brought back here and sent east over the Pittsburg. The cars mentioned belong to the Pennsylvania company.

Over a half hundred people attended the social given last evening by the ladies' auxiliary of the Order of Railway Conductors at the residence of Conductor and Mrs. Charles W. Zeigler, 203 West Superior street. The social was one of the most pleasant of the many similar affairs given by the auxiliary. An interesting feature of the evening was the presentation of a handsome silver cake stand to the host and hostess in honor of their seventh wedding anniversary which occurs today.

Machinist Harry Hayes has returned from New Castle, Pa., to spend a few days with his folks, when he will return there and complete the work of setting up a Bass Corliss engine.

The board of managers of the Joint Traffic association has reduced the grain rate from Buffalo to the Atlantic seaboard cities 1½ cents on the basis of wheat. The reduction became effective yesterday.

The Nickel Plate has the retrenchment fever at present and as a result eighty employes were discharged today from the Stony Island shops and yards. The force at this point has not been disturbed.

The Electric corporation will errect an electric lighting plant at Bordentown, N. J. Today a 60-light arc dynamo, and an 1 000 light incandescent machine, with necessary lamps, station instruments, transformers, etc., left the Fort Wayne works for that city.

TO VOTE ON SUNDAY CLOSING

Monster Legislative Petition From the City of New York.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 28.—A petition containing the names of 115 000 citizens of New York city was wheeled into the senate chamber on an oak carriage trimmed with silver. The occasion was the hearing by the joint excise committee on the question of liberal Sunday opening laws for New York, Brooklyn and Buffalo. The petition asks the enactment of a law referring to the voters of cities of the first class at the spring election of 1896 the question whether the sale of beverages, milk and food shall be permitted on Sunday, under proper restrictions to be fixed by statute. John B Penner, chairman of the German-American Citizens' union, presented the petition. Rev. Dr. Rainsford, rector of St. George's church, of New York city, spoke in favor of allowing a vote to be taken, saying it would result in a distinct moral advance for the people. Carl Schurz, Gustav Schwab, Ferdinand Levy, James Speyer and Judge Jerolo-man also advocated the passage of the law.

COMET "A" 196.

Uncertainty About Its Discovery is Cleared Up.

MOUNT HAMILTON, Cal., Feb. 28.—The Science Observer special circular No. 111, dated February 20, from Boston, just received at the Lick observatory, contains information which seems to clear up the uncertainty heretofore existing regarding the discovery of comet "A" 196. From this circular it seems that the observation obtained at Kiel on February 13 was of Perrine's comet of 1895 (C), and that there was an error in the message received at the Lick observatory which gave its right ascension as 19 hours, 15 minutes, 47 9 seconds, instead of 19 hours, 44 minutes, 47 9 seconds. The declination agreed with that obtained here. As has already been stated a new comet was observed at the Lick observatory by C. D. Perrine, not far from the position indicated in the erroneous despatch, and this fact was duly announced. In answer to this announcement a second message was received from Kiel giving the position of the new comet and also confirming the fact that the observation of February 13 was of comet "C" 195. This leaves no doubt that Perrine is the discoverer of the new comet, although final confirmation awaits mail advices from Germany.

THE PERKINS BEQUEST.

SOUTH BEND Ind., Feb 28.—The will of the late Palmer C. Perkins, of Mishawaka, has been admitted to probate. The document is dated November 21, 1890, and his son Reuben C. Perkins, is named as executor. The widow receives $30,000 from the estate, valued at $250,000, before anything else is paid. She also gets the residence, with contents. Besides $1,000 at death of testator, she is also to receive $1,500 a year from the estate. The son is also handsomely remembered. The sum of $2,000 is set aside, the interest of which is given to the Baptist Sunday school of Mishawaka. Twenty-three bequests of $100 each, one of $400 and two of $50 each were given to children of his brothers and sisters. Before his wife's death, one-fourth of the estate remaining above $30,000 is to be equally divided between the American Baptist Home Missionary society, of New York; the American Baptist Publication society, of Philadelphia, and Franklin college, Johnson county, Indiana.

HORRIBLE FIND.

Two Bodies, Cold in Death, Discovered in a Cellar.

Edward Peters Shoots the Girl Who Rejected Him and Then Kills Himself.

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—The dead bodies of Flora Larbig, seventeen years old, and Edward Peters, nineteen years old, were found today in the basement of the building at 350 West Fourteenth street, where Peters lived. Both bodies were cold, and the murder and suicide, for such it appeared to be, had evidently been committed sometime last night. The girl had a gaping bullet wound behind the left ear, Peters' death being caused by a shot in the right temple. Peters had been out of work for sometime, and despondency, over this and his rejection by Miss Larbig were, it is believed, the causes that drove him to the crime.

VERDICT OF GUILTY.

Three Men Violate the Neutrality Laws.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Feb. 28.—The jury in the case of Captain Wiborg; First Mate Peterson and Second Mate Johansen, who were on trial in the United States district court, charged with violating the neutrality laws between this country and Spain, by carrying an armed expedition to Cuba on the steamer Horsa, has returned a verdict of guilty. The verdict was reached after eight hours deliberation. Counsel for the prisoners gave notice that he would make application for a new trial, and the convicted men were taken to prison, where they will remain until brought up for sentence.

VAN BUREN, Ark., Feb 28.—Pruitt Turner, colored, was hanged here today for the murder of Robert Hawkins February 17, 1895. He was composed to the last and, in a short speech on the gallows, stated that he had been unjustly convicted.

ANOTHER FAILURE.

The Kentucky Senatorial Deadlock Unbroken.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 28.—A special to the Post from Frankfort says: The senatorial vote today resulted as follows: Hunter 57; Blackburn 61; Carlisle 3; McCreary 2; Dangley 5; Holt 1; Evans 1; Lewis 1; Bate 1. The five democrats who have been voting against Senator Blackburn divided their votes, three voting for Carlisle and two for McCreary.

BOMBARDED THE TOWN.

A Government Gunboat Shells Mometonbo.

MANAUGUA, Nicaragua, Feb. 28.—A government gunboat today threw ten shells into the town of Mometonbo, on lake Managua, which had declared for the insurgents. The inhabitants fled. No landing party has as yet been sent from the gunboat. The town of Nagarote has been taken by a government force, which is now advancing on Leon.

Advance copies have been sent to United States Ambassador Bayard and they were mailed to Washington today. The secretary of the marquis of Salisbury had an interview with Mr. Bayard on the subject yesterday.

Graves Being Robbed.

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 28.—A local official of the Pacific Steamship company makes the statement that bodies of human beings are being systematically snatched from the cemeteries of this city and sent as surgery subjects and for scientific purposes to medical colleges in San Francisco. The authorities are investigating the matter.

Evil Result of Jumping the Rope.

FARMLAND Ind., Feb 28.—Edna Addington, a small school girl, north of Farmland, while jumping a rope yesterday burst a blood vessel in the lungs and came near bleeding to death before medical assistance could be secured. She was trying to jump the rope a thousand times without stopping.

Bound to Get There.

Two Irishmen went out skating not long since, and one took a bottle of whisky with him as a sort of "heart warmer." When they decided to "hit the bottle," they found the cork was very tight and impossible to get out without a corkscrew.

"Can't yez get it out, Moike?" said Pat, after a few minutes of hard work by Mike with the cork.

"Yis, begob," said Mike, "I'll git it out shure if Oi have to push it in."—Princeton Tiger.

A Wasted Compliment.

"Yes, I told him that it was said that kisses were much sweeter in the dark"—

"And he turned down the gas?"

"The idiot did nothing of the kind. He just sat there like a stick and said that if a girl were as handsome as I he thought darkness would detract from the pleasantness of the occasion. It was a very nice compliment, but there is a time to speak and a time to act."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Believes In Arbitration.

The Amalgamated Society of Plumbers and Gas Fitters has resolved to advocate a general conference of all labor organizations to decide upon a plan of general arbitration. The employers will be asked to co-operate in the new movement.—New York Sun.

A Rumored Change.

In view of the number of office boys who made their fortunes by bidding for bonds, it is likely that the term "snake story" will be supplanted by "bond story" in the near future.—Chicago Post.

Salisbury's Next Feat.

There is manifest reason to believe that Lord Salisbury is preparing to furnish a striking illustration of the art of backing out gracefully.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Assistance.

"Mrs. Ess entertained, assisted by Mrs. Tee."

"But Mrs. Tee isn't received in good society."

"I know it. They talked about her."

And the century was coming down the stretch at the pace that kills.—Detroit Tribune.

A Natural Thought.

"Do you know, mamma," said Tommy Taddells, as he ran in from school, "that there are microbes in the drinking water?"

"Are there?" replied the good lady. "I should think they'd get drowned."—New York World.

There was recently a first and second price offered by two enthusiastic members of Summit City lodge, No. 36, A. O. U. W., for the one having initiated the most candidates by the first meeting in April and great interest is being manifested in the result by the membership. Two names were added to roll last evening and several applications were read.

The profits arising from the sale of ice cream and cake, soda water and candy and bread and pies cut no figure today with W. F. Geller, the well known confectioner and baker on Broadway. A handsome twelve-pound boy baby arrived at his home this morning and he is being congratulated on all sides by his host of friends. Hereafter his popular Broadway place will go under the firm name of W. F. Geller & Son.

A western genius has applied for a patent on a corn planter, which consists of two boxes attached to the forelegs of a horse, just above the fetlocks, in which is the corn to be planted. Cords passed over the pulleys attached to the saddle down the hind legs, so that every time the horse stepped the tightening of the cord would open the boxes on the forelegs and some corn be shaken into the holes made by the front feet.

A short time ago a young couple registered at the Summit City hotel, near the south depot, as J. M. Mott and wife, of Grand Rapids, Mich. They remained there a few weeks, but yesterday the woman found her husband missing. He had skipped out, leaving her without money or friends. The landlord seized her baggage for his board bill. It was said that the couple were not married. Trustee Schmetzer furnished the young woman with transportation to a station north on the Grand Rapids railroad and she left yesterday afternoon. She refused to tell her real name or anything about her history or relatives. Mott was a gambler.

Two small boys who are employed in Calhoun street stores had a fight this morning. One of the lads came along where the other was working and called him a name that did not exactly suit him. A war of words followed and the offended party invited the other fellow into an alley for the purpose of having his head punched. The invitation was promptly accepted and the lads went at it hammer and tongs. A crowd soon gathered and cheered the scrappers. The outcome was a draw, but the fellow who issued the challenge came very near getting the worst of it. He would have been licked had not the bystanders separated him and his antagonist.

Miss Ellen Spencer, of Indianapolis, is expected to be in the city next week, the guest of Mrs. George D. Crane.

MR. C. D. LAW.

His Delegates to the Republican District Convention.

The article published in the political column of yesterday's SENTINEL in regard to delegates which had been agreed upon for the republican district convention to select delegates to the republican national convention attracted considerable attention and was the talk of the town in republican circles last evening. Our political reporter gave the list just as his nose-hunting proclities enabled him to get it. The friends of Mr C. D. Law claim that it is incorrect in as far as his delegates are concerned and we give today a list of his delegates in the different wards as follows:

First Ward—Jack Kensill, H. W. Tapp.
Second Ward—Fred Tresselt, James Hewes.
Third Ward—C. E. Walton, Amos Sine.
Fourth Ward—Hugh Hogan, George Trenam.
Fifth Ward—To be selected.
Sixth Ward—H. S. Gates, Frank Tibbles, H. T. Stapletord.
Seventh Ward—Ben. Thompson.
Eighth Ward—W. D. Page, Henry Foerster.
Ninth Ward—To be selected.
Tenth Ward—William Turner, W. H. Woodruff.

DECISION RENDERED.

Legacy to Sadie Rockhill Bears Interest and a Charge on Real Estate.

(Last Evening's Huntington Democrat.)

W. W. Rockhill and Judge Morris, of Fort Wayne, are in attendance at court here today. The former gentle man is postmaster, while the latter is of the law firm of Morris, Bell, Barrett & Morris, of Fort Wayne.

The petition of Sadie M. Rockhill, by W. W. Rockhill, next friend, that the court shall by its decree declare the true interpretation and construction of will of the testatrix, Anna M. Holt, concerning the question whether the legacy therein bequeathed to her, bears interest from the demise of the testatrix and as to whether the legacy is made a charge upon the real estate of the testatrix. Submitted on agreed statement of facts. Judge Lowry found that said legacy was intended to bear interest from the date of the demise of the testatrix and that the same does constitute a charge on said real estate and the decree was entered accordingly. By the will probated, Sadie M Rockhill was bequeathed $3,000, to be placed in the hands of E. T. Taylor, as trustee, to invest until she became of age and by the above decision the amount bequeathed is interest bearing from the date of Mrs. Holt's death and is a charge upon the real estate.

The Cuban Debate Crowds the Senate Galleries.

Under Attorney General Harmon Pushes Action Against Bond Investment Companies.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—The senate galleries were well filled at the opening of the session today in anticipation of the culmination of the Cuban debate and the final vote set for 4 o'clock. Shortly after the session opened Representative Hitt, chairman of the house committee on foreign affairs, joined Mr. Sherman, chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations, in a whispered conference at Mr. Sherman's desk. The Ohio senator announced that the Cuban question would be taken up without waiting for the usual expiration of the morning hour at 2 o'clock. Mr. Allen, populist, of Nebraska, asked to withdraw the resolutions for the appointment of Mr. Lloyd as a senate official. This brought on another discussion as to adding a populist official to the rolls. Mr. Allen finally withdrew the resolutions. Mr. Sherman then moved that the Cuban resolutions be taken up and this prevailed without objection. Chairman Hitt remained along side Mr. Sherman as the debate proceeded. Baron Von Kettler, of the German embassy, occupied a seat in the diplomatic gallery. By this time the public galleries were filled to their full limit and there was promise of a crush.

The floor was yielded for the adoption of the conference on the pension appropriation bill; also for the passage of the bill relating to the anchorage and movement of vessels in St. Marys river.

Mr. Lindsay, (dem.), of Kentucky, then addressed the senate on the Cuban resolutions. He said the conflict in Cuba was at our very doors and was being waged with such desperation that only one of two results could come, either the complete independence of Cuba on one hand or the utter annihilation of the Cuban people on the other. The senator said he approached the subject from the standpoint of humanity rather than of law.

Declarations of sympathy would avail nothing to the Cubans. Declarations that they had progressed to the stage of belligerents would avail nothing. "If the United States intends taking any step that will vail these struggling Cubans, that step should be in the direction of the ultimate independence of Cuba," declared Mr. Lindsay in his stentorian tones. In the past, he continued, the United States had not hesitated to take the position of recognizing independence under circumstances similar to those now existing in Cuba Quoting from international authorities, the senator maintained that a condition now existed in Cuba justifying the United States in considering a proposition for active intervention to restore public order and in behalf of humanity.

"But," said Mr. Lindsay, "the resolution offered did not contemplate active intervention. It extended our good offices to Spain with a view to securing the ultimate independence of Cuba. And such independence is the only basis which will bring lasting peace to Cuba, judging from the experience of seventy years The United States could not relieve itself from the responsibility of seeing that Spain showed this island some kind of justice Could we say to the world that unless Cuba secured her independence by her own unaided efforts she must remain under the abject subjection of Spain? Should we not say to Spain that some sort of protection, some sort of justice and liberty consistent with an enlightened age must be shown to these people? Spain now contemplated the annihilation of all the able bodied men of Cuba in order to crush this upspring. Spain owes to Cuba as much a Turkey owes to Armenia, or as the United States to Venezuela—a duty of protection, and if this protection was not given, then the point had been reached where the United States should move for the severance of Cuba from Spain.

At 1:15 Mr. Sherman began his speech, closing the debate. He spoke of the keen sensitiveness of the Spanish people and their tendency to quickly resent any act they regarded as injurious to them. "But," said Mr. Sherman, he felt that the time had come when the United States must intervene to put an end to crime almost beyond description" The senator said he would not re enter on the legal arguments so fully covered by Mr. Morgan, but he referred to several pamphlets presented by Mr. Estrada Palma, the agent and representative of the Cubans in this country.

Mr. Sherman said the statement bore the stamp of authority. He said it overcame the misapprehension that the Cubans were scattered, unorganized bands. It showed the organization of a legislature, the army, of the president—the latter a man of high character. It was as complete an organization as the United States had during the revolutionary war.

Sherman, in the course of his speech, declared he did not favor Cuba's annexation to the United States, but strongly favored its annexation to Mexico, a kindred people.

Mr. Gallinger followed Senator Sherman in the senate with a strong appeal for the recognition of Cuban independence. He said that Cuba was making the same struggle that this country made in 1776 and that Weyler was a tyrant. He believed that Cuba would attain her independence, but that this country could make the contest briefer with a proper word of encouragement.

Under Attorney General Harmon's decision sustaining the former action of the postoffice department, Postmaster General Wilson is pushing the fight against the bond investment companys operating lottery schemes. Telegraphic instructions have been sent since by him to secure the arrest of a number of officials of these concerns operating in the southwest and today an order was issued to all postmasters refusing the use of the mails to the Equitable Investment company of Fort Worth, Texas. The mails also will be barred against the officers of the company. Another order has been issued against Harry Lovell, of Chicago.

The president has sent to the house his veto of the bill to authorize the leasing of certain land in Arizona for educational purposes

The house election committee decided today to report in favor of unseating Mr. Robbins, democrat, of the Fourth district of Alabama and giving his seat to W. F. Aldrich, the contestant, who was supported by republicans and populists The decision was reached by a party vote, the republicans claiming that ballot box stuffing was practiced.

THE BERMUDA CASE

Develops Some Features Pleasing to the Cubans.

The Stranahan and Its Cargo of Arms and Ammunition Will Undoubtedly be Released.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28—The United States authorities have taken a step in the Bermuda case that gives great satisfaction to the Cubans. Heretofore there has been no legal process in connection with the seizure of the steamship and the lighter James S T. Stranahan and the lighter's cargo of arms and ammunition. They were detained under executive orders, the president of the United States having power to act in such cases, but no court authority had been brought into requisition, except in the case of the men for whom warrants had been issued. James J. Macklin, attorney for McCaldin Bros., who own the steamer Stranahan, made a demand on the United States marshal Wednesday for the release of the lighter.

He was asked to wait until the district attorney could look into the matter and readily acceded. District Attorney McFarlane last night filed a libel and information on behalf of the government against the cargo of the Stranahan, described as containing 300 packages of gunpowder and dynamite, cartridges and other substances of like character. The action is brought under sections 4475 and 4476 of the United States revised statutes, which provide for the packing of explosives for shipment and a penalty of a fine not exceeding $2,000, or imprisonment not exceeding eighteen months, or both, for violation of the requirements, which are that they 'shall be securely packed and put up separately from each other and from all other articles, and the package, box, cask or other vessel containing the same shall be distinctly marked on the outside with the name or description of the article contained therein."

The cases on the Stranahan containing explosives are alleged to have been not thus marked. The libel notifies all concerned to appear March 17 before Judge Brown, in the United States district court, to show cause why the packages described should not be seized and forfeited. Speaking of the case, Horatio S. Rubens, general counsel for the Cubans, said: "The action of the district attorney shows that he has abandoned the idea of acting on the ground of infraction of the neutrality laws. He thus introduces a novelty in such cases. There was no warrant for the government's action on the lines followed, because in all the cases that have gone before based on the neutrality laws, the government has failed."

WAS BLACKMAIL.

Confession of One of the Accusers of Rev. Dr. Brown.

Martha Overman Says She Plotted to Ruin the Character of the Man Whose Hospitality She Enjoyed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 28—The Rev. Dr. Brown, after two months silence has given his defense to the public. The story is the most startling which has yet been told in the scandal. It was related as a confession to the ecclesiastical court last night by Miss Martha Overman, who is the first in the sensational case to confess herself a blackmailer. Miss Overman's manner was striking. She spoke so quietly that even the members of the council were forced to draw forward until their chairs formed a semi circle on the platform. The woman spoke deliberately, weaving a remarkable story, logically and clearly. She confessed that she was a blackmailer and thief; she gave the information with a smile. She confessed that she planned the destruction of the man whose hospitality she now enjoys. She declared that to save herself from work and the possible hardships of poverty she conspired with Mrs. Mary A. Davidson to ruin the character of the Rev. Dr. Brown and to blacken her own. She asserted that she approached the representatives of a morning newspaper with a hope of tempting them to blackmail the accused pastor. She drew her recital to a dramatic climax by asserting, with the smile that never left her face, that she wrote the letters which picture her own moral and physical ruin and place the cause of her deep distress at the door of Rev. Dr. Brown. Asserting all this, she denied that there had ever been the slightest impropriety in her relations with the man against whom she plotted so shrewdly.

DAMON AND PYTHIAS.

The Beautiful Story Repeated in Missouri During the War.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Feb 28—President Homer T Fuller, of Drury college, announces that he has received a singular proposition from a wealthy Massachusetts man, whose identity he would not disclose. The man offers Drury a large sum of money if it will verify the truth of a war incident which is alleged to have taken place in Missouri, and which, if true, the Massachusetts man thinks equals the story of Damon and Pythias. The president announced that the college would accept the offer, and he requests the students to help him secure positive evidence of it, if such a thing really did occur. The story is that in the early part of the war a detachment of confederate troops in Missouri took about 400 Union prisoners. Twelve of these prisoners were lined up and shot without provocation by the confederate officers. Upon hearing of this act, the commander of the Federal regiment drafted twelve confederate prisoners to be shot in retaliation. As the line was being formed a young man named William Lear stepped forward and asked permission to take the place of one of the condemned men, who was his friend. The request was granted and Lear was shot in place of his friend."

NEW YORK, Feb. 28—Mr. Warner Miller, of the Nicaragua Canal Construction company, said last night that he has been expecting for some time a general uprising in Central America. "Such an uprising, however," he added, 'would not affect the Nicaragua canal interests. The United States government has always afforded us ample protection and all our grants and concessions have been given regularly by acts of congress, so that we have nothing to fear from any political overturning."

TICKET NAMED.

State Prohibition Convention Held at Indianapolis.

Nominate Candidates for State Officers and Decide Upon a "Broad-Gauge" Platform.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind, Feb. 28—The state convention of the prohibition party was captured yesterday by the "broad gauge" faction. The resolutions denounce the liquor traffic, indorse the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold on a ratio of 16 to 1, favor an amendment to the constitution that will enable congress to pass an income tax law and ask for amendments to existing laws that will prevent competition of pauper European labor with American workmen.

Mrs. Helen M. Gougar offered a resolution declaring that the Nicholson temperance law is a sham and a fraud and that it shows that all nonpartisan efforts to regulate the liquor traffic are failures. Mrs. Gougar spoke in defense of her resolution, but it was laid on the table by a decided vote. There were few contests for the offices to be filled at the coming election, though as many as two or three names were sometimes presented for a single nomination. The following ticket was nominated:

Governor—Rev. E. G. Shouse, Vigo county.

Lieutenant-Governor—J. G. Kingsbury, Marion.

Secretary of State—J. E Ellsworth, Adams.

Auditor of State—H. C. Hanson, Lake.

Treasurer—Sylvester Johnson, Marion.

Attorney-General—S. M. Saylor, Huntington.

Statistician—J. E Woodard, Parke.

Reporter Supreme Court—V. P. Kirk, Marshall.

Superintendent Public Instruction—C. W. Lodgin, Wayne.

Ex Governor St. John, of Kansas was in attendance and insisted that the convention adopt the "broad gauge" platform—that is, endorse free silver in addition to demanding the absolute prohibition of the liquor traffic. He said he had attended many prohibition conventions, but had never attended a larger and better one than this. The convention was bound to have an influence upon the party politics of the nation "We are not here to make any deals" said he "We are here without war paint on." Just now, he said, there was much said about "narrow gauge" and 'broad gauge." The platform of the prohibition party would be as broad as the demands of humanity. The party was coming into power in this country. He believed that, instead of establishing inebriate asylums, the government should strike at the root of the evil. 'You can not make an issue dominant by a platform resolution," said he. "It is not the importance of an issue that makes it dominant, but the number that gather around it. I believe prohibition was the important issue at the last election, but it lacked 11,000,000 votes of being the dominant issue. The tariff was the dominant issue."

The following are delegates to the national prohibition convention, selected at the district meetings:

First District—J. W. Emmons and J. M Daniels; Second, H. S. Bonsib and C. S. Dobbins; Third, Rev. E. L. Sanders and John W. Montgomery; Fourth, S. V. Wright and Ellen B. Wright; Fifth, Levi I. Hadley and W. M. Taylor; Sixth, G. W. Hagan and Aaron Worth; Seventh, S. B. McNaughton and B. L. Lockwood; Eighth, Sumner W. Haines and M. W. Hawkings, Ninth, D F. Maish and L. M. Crist; Tenth, Helen M. Gougar and W. C. Court; Eleventh, William Lenfesty and G. D. Scott; Twelfth, D. F. Cain and I W. Markey; Thirteenth, S. W. McClure and Joshua Collens.

The following are the delegates at-large to the national convention: Rev. J. M. Daniel, Princeton, Helen K. Denny, Vincennes; Jesse B. Davis, Scottsburg; T. R. Woodard, Columbus; William Edgerton, Dunreith; D. G. Carter, Rosedale; F. King, Carmel. H. L. Davis, Lafayette; J. S. Nelson, Fort Wayne; G. W. Dutt, Columbia City; Eli Cobbesball, Marion; Jesse E. Davis, Scottsburg

HIS RECORD BAD.

Lewis, the Deceased Bank Robber, Was a Tough.

Used to Live in Neosho, Neb., and Bore a Very Bad Reputation in That Town.

NEOSHO, Neb, Feb. 28—The news of the bank robbery at Wichita Falls, Texas, in which Elmer Lewis, formerly of this place, was implicated, and for which he was lynched, has just reached this city. Lewis was a son of James Lewis, and had always lived here until about a year ago, when he went to the territory. Later he returned, and left last fall, taking with him his cousin, Miss Lulu Hunter. He was never known to be engaged in lawlessness to any consequence, but always wanted to convey the idea of being a bad man and the news caused no great surprise His father is master mechanic in the Neosho foundry at this place and for a number of years has been leading a quiet life, although he was implicated in a highway robbery in this county a number of years ago, for which he served a sentence in the penitentiary. The authorities of Wichita have been authorized by the father to give him a decent burial, stating that he would pay all expenses Nothing is known of the whereabouts of the young woman he took from here with him

TWICE FINED.

Warwick's Plea That He Drank Was Continuous Doesn't Save Him.

KOKOMO, Ind, Feb 28—An interesting point in the saloon law was passed upon yesterday in a justice court here, after a long contest Some time ago Harvey Warwick, a saloonkeeper, was arrested for intoxication, but resisted prosecution on the ground that it was the same drunk for which he was arrested the previous day, and that he could not be legally punished twice for the same offense. Able lawyers were employed on both sides and the case was hotly contested. Warwick insisted that, being an old saloonkeeper and a good judge of liquor, he could tell what kind of a jag he had on and how long it took to get over it, being a continuous jag, with no new material added to the accumulation. Squire DeHaven ruled that, if it was all one drunk, it was big enough for two, and accordingly assessed a second fine, both arrests costing Warwick about $10.

WOMAN'S JEALOUSY

Causes Trouble in the Salvation Army.

CHICAGO, Feb. 28—The Record today says: "There are intimations that one woman's jealousy of another woman's success lies at the root of the trouble in the Salvation Army, and that the beautiful and intellectual Maud Billington Booth is the thorn in the flesh. Major Adaie, of Springfield, commander of the Illinois division of the Salvation Army, and Major Stillwell, of Minneapolis, directing the forces in Minneapolis and northern Michigan, are in the city. A delegation of Salvationists met them on their return from the east and plied them with questions concerning the trouble between the Booths and the revolution in New York Major Addie said: I don't know what the trouble is nor does any one else in the army but General Booth's immediate family. It is a family difficulty entirely and, being that, we look for an amicable adjustment of it all when the general gets home from India"

CONGRESSMAN LEIGHTY

Will Not Say That He Will Accept a Renomination.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 28—Congressman Leighty, of Indiana, can not be induced to say whether or not he will be a candidate for congress, although the presumption is that he will again accept the nomination. He realizes, however, that the district is very close if not democratic, and he believes that whoever is nominated ought to secure the honor without any division or party sentiment The Twelfth district is usually democratic by 3000 plurality. Mr Leighty realizes that his strongest local danger is in the nomination of a popular Allen county democrat The man most prominently mentioned is J M Robinson, of Fort Wayne

He will be taken back to Spain.

FLYING MACHINE A FAILURE.

Former Salamore Makes Just One Trip and Now Needs Arnica.

UTICA, Mich., Feb 28—About four miles west of Utica lives Andrew Naramore, an aged farmer and inventor of no little genius Some time ago Mr. Naramore decided to eclipse all his contemporaries in the inventive line by constructing a flying machine This machine consisted of a huge pair of wings, which were propelled by motions of the arms, a pair of tails so constructed as somewhat to resemble the feet of a duck and fastened to the feet, and with a large rudder for steering. When everything was completed Mr. Naramore, who, by the way, weighs 300 pounds, climbed to the top of a shed to take a little trial trip around the barnyard Reaching the peak, he carefully crept out to the end, and, raising the gigantic wings, dropped off—that is, Mr. Naramore thinks he dropped. He has only some slight recollections of what happened after he left the roof of the shed, until he found himself prone in the barnyard. Mr. Naramore has now given up the idea of a successful flying machine.

The Police Raid Two Tough Joints.

Jerry Moriarity's Road House Visited and Ten Men and Five Women Captured by the Officers.

Fifteen names appeared on the docket in police court this morning, the largest number that has been there for many a day.

About midnight last night a telephone message called the police to the road house kept by Jerry Moriarity, back of Lindenwood cemetery The message said there was was a boisterous crowd at the place making a tough show of themselves Captain Bergman, Sergeant Dasher, Officers Dickson, Spillner and Elliott went out to pull the gang.

Ten people were found in the road house There were seven men and three women. They were indulging in a high kicking exhibition and other disgusting orgies All were loaded up in the patrol wagon and taken to the station

The names they gave were as follows William McVinton, Henry Smith, Philip Kerody, John Brown, Alexander Thompson James Monroe, James Allen, Emma Eddings, Georgie Weber and Josie Smith

McVinton, Brown, Thompson, Monroe and Allen put up $15 50 apiece at the station and were released This morning some young fellow, who was said to be a lover called at the police station and paid a fine for Emma Eddings, and she was turned out Josie Smith and Georgie Weber plead guilty to prostitution and were sent to jail for fifteen days They appeared in court wearing thick, heavy black veils so that they could not be recognized Frank Smith pleaded not guilty to associating with prostitutes but the evidence convicted him and he went over with the girls for fifteen days

His bartender, Philip Kennedy, was charged with associating with prostitutes and also with keeping the saloon open after 11 o'clock. Attorney E V. Emerick appeared for Moriarity and Kennedy and asked for a change of venue Mayor Oakley sent the cases to Squire Alex McDaniel, in Washington township, and they will be tried at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Booth Ill.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28—Mrs Ballington Booth is ill at her home in Mount Clair, N J., as a consequence of the recent worry in connection of the removal of Mr Booth from the command of the Salvation army in the United States.

Mrs H E Anderson entertained the Exchange club yesterday afternoon with a poverty luncheon, which was both original and unique The ladies were invited to come and bring their mending and something to eat prepared by themselves Work was exchanged by the different ladies, some deftly putting a patch or sewing buttons upon her friends garment while others neatly darned the socks of some other woman's liege lord. The prize, a handsome jardiniere, was awarded Mrs S. J. Hall for turning over best sample of work in shape of a neatly darned pair of socks while Miss Marguerite Wilson gained the booby prize—a book entitled 'Care of the Wardrobe," by failing to properly mend a pair of trousers This club is the one which started the Ladies Exchange on Broadway several years ago The Exchange has changed hands several times since the club gave it up, Miss Gealorn being the present proprietress The club will hold the election of officers at the home of Mrs Hughes, Thursday, March 5

GRATIFYING RESULTS.

Interesting Experiments with the New Stomach Remedy.

Not a Patent Medicine, But a Safe Cure for All Forms of Indigestion.

The results of recent investigation, have established, beyond question, the great value of the new preparation for indigestion and stomach troubles, it is composed of the digestive acids, pepsin, bismuth, Golden Seal and similar stomachics, prepared in the form of 20 grain lozenges, pleasant to the taste, convenient to carry when eating, harmless to the most delicate stomach, and probably the safest, most effectual cure yet discovered for indigestion, sour stomach, loss of appetite and flesh, nausea, sick headaches, palpitation of heart, and the many symptoms arising from imperfect digestion of food. They cure because they cause the food to be prompt'y and thoroughly digested before it has time to sour, ferment and poison the blood and nervous system

Judge Frank Ives, of District Court of Crookston, Minn., says: For some time I have used St. Jacob's Dyspepsia Tablets with seeming great benefit with few exceptions, I have not been so free from indigestion in twenty five years

Geo W Roosevelt, U S Consul to Brussels, Belgium: Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, safe, pleasant to take, convenient to carry, give keen appetite, perfect digestion

Mr W D Toulin, Mechanical Engineer, Duluth Minn: One box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets has done me a world of work, and I am again gaining flesh and strength

O E Ransom, Hustonville, Ky.: I was distressed and annoyed for two years with throwing up food, often two or three times a day; had no certainty of retaining a meal if I ate one. Four boxes of the tablets from my druggist, have fully cured me. I find them pleasant to take, convenient to carry

Rev G D Brown, Mondovi, Wis: The effect of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is simply marvellous; a quite hearty dinner of broiled beef steak causes no distress since I began their use

Over six thousand people in the state of Mich alone in 1891 were cured of stomach troubles by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets

Full sized packages may be found at all druggists at 50c, or sent by mail on receipt of price from Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

AN educational qualification is now required of men seeking enistment in the United States army

THE prohibitionists are first in the field with a ticket in this state. Their platform is a "broad gauge" one.

UP TO date there is no need for using the X rays to ascertain whether or not the backbone of winter is broken.

THE agreeable and friendly candidate is abroad in the land. Get ready to receive a vigorous handshake from him.

POLITICIANS at the state capital say it is practically settled that Judge Wm S. Holman will be nominated for congress by the democrats of the Fourth district.

THE republicans are having about as hot a fight over their delegates from this district to the national convention as the democrats are having about their mayoralty candidate.

GOVERNOR MATTHEWS has completely silenced the fellows who have been claiming that he is in favor of free coinage at the ratio of 16 to 1 He also says that he will not be a presidential candidate on such a platform

FRANCIS MURPHY has joined the prohibition party and declares that he will be found hand and hand with that party until the last saloon is closed. Mr. Murphy expresses himself as being disgusted with the attitude of the old party leaders who, he says, harmonize the temperance people just enough to get their votes.

A CLOSE friend of Dr. Chauncey M Depew is authority for the statement that "Our Chauncey" has recently ordered 10,000 lithographic portraits of himself. They are taken from a painting of him, it is said, by Frank Carpenter, the artist. What is Dr. Depew going to do with them? is a question that will naturally suggest itself. As a Morton delegate-at-large to St. Louis Depew can hardly expect to make use of them, unless he is preparing to advance for some unexpected developments.

THERE comes from South Dakota the rumble of civil strife. Senator Pettigrew demands election as a delegate to St. Louis, and will not brook refusal. He wants to expound there the free silver theory in terms that will make the "goldbugs" shudder. Despite all this he may be left at home.

IN London public sentiment is clearly in sympathy with Dr. Jameson. He is a hero in the eyes of the English masses. He might have enjoyed the approval of the government if he had succeeded in overturning the south African republic His case may yet perplex the Salisbury government considerably.

OF course the United States government must act when formally notified that enemies of a friendly nation are fitting out a filibustering expedition in a United States port But it does seem as if the government might move slowly when the filibusters are going to the aid of the Cuban patriots, who are struggling for liberty.

SILVER DEMOCRATS in Indianapolis have organized a Democratic Silver league. Hon. Franklin Landers, democratic candidate for governor in 1880 is president. Senator Romeo Stewart is an active member of the new organization. There is a very strong silver sentiment among the democrats of Indianapolis, and they propose to make themselves felt in the election of delegates to the county, district and state conventions.

THERE are many people who, having found how difficult it is to respond to a call for a speech, will sympathize with the Maine man the Lewiston Journal tells of, who attempted to speak in a town meeting on a subject that greatly interested him. "Fellow citizens," he sang out lustily, as he rose—'fellow citizens,"—a long and embarassing pause, and then he added: "If I only had the ideas I ought to have on this subject, and had the words to express those ideas, I think I could relieve my feelings." How the crowd cheered as he sat down!

THE falling of Ash Wednesday on February 19 this year will bring Easter to us on April 5, a somewhat early date, and Ascension Thursday on May 14, with Pentecost on May 23 and Trinity on the last day of the same month. Eleven years ago Easter came on the same date as it will upon this year, and in the closing year of the century it will come three days earlier It may, as it is well known, come as early as March 23 and as late as the corresponding date in April, but they are exceptional years when it falls on either of these dates. They who are alive, though, on April 23, 1905 will hear the Easter anthems rendered in the churches on that Sunday.

THE order issued by the Cincinnati jail officials forbidding entrance to the premises of morbid visitors to see the murderers of Pearl Bryan will be indorsed by all right thinking men. One of the most inexplicable as well as dangerous tendencies of the time is the growth of sympathy for criminals, and the curiosity which brought thousands of people to the Cincinnati jail last week is akin to sympathy, for it feeds the vanity of its object quite as much. In his Chicago speech the other day Theodore Roosevelt said: "When this nation realizes the duty it owes its citizens then we will see the time when sympathy goes out to the lawabiding, not to the lawless." May the approach of that period be expedited should be the prayer of the public, and the Cincinnati incident is welcomed because it indicates the coming.

Not even in the flush days of California were mining operations so active in this country as they are now. Indeed all over the world mining properties are having the greatest boom known in history. It is significant of the times that the buying and selling of mines are conducted through syndicate operations. A great company of capitalists is formed. Some are large capitalists—most of them, in fact—but others are men of little means. But, small or great, they organize a company, divide its stock into shares, get the shares subscribed for, then negotiate with mine owners for the sale of their property. When the mine is bought, immediately stamp mills and very expensive plants of machinery are erected, and the work of extracting the ore begins. A great amount of money is required. It is a fact that the small single operator has little opportunity now. Unless he has capital enough to join a syndicate, he must be content to work for wages as the servant of a syndicate. In Europe and America the popular tide has set toward mining shares for investment as well as speculation. The English are especially active. In every city of the American Union are corporations or members of corporations for operating mines. A syndicate of St. Louis capitalists has recently reopened for active operation a number of California's old mines in half a dozen of the mountain counties.

A wonderful electric bottle labeling machine has been invented. It will paste the labels on 36,000 bottles in a day. The attraction of static electricity picks up one by one the labels from a pile and holds each till a revolving paste roller comes by and licks it. Then the bottle comes rolling along by a further move of this astonishing machine, when the label is let loose from its electrical attraction. It sticks fast to the bottle and is carried along with it to give place to the next.

The best guarantee for the whole world's future peace is not an actual formal alliance, but a thorough good understanding and spirit of friendliness between the two great English speaking nations of the globe, Great Britain and the United States.

"All business interests must necessarily be subordinated to the superior claims of the honor and safety of the nation," says a writer Just so.

LABRADOR THE NEXT

EXPLORING EXPEDITION TO LEAVE PHILADELPHIA IN JUNE.

To Study the Eskimo and Collect Flora and Fauna—College Students In the Party. Lieutenant Peary's Old Ship, the Kite, to Take the Party—To Return In a Year.

An expedition bound for the interior of Labrador will leave Philadelphia in June for the purpose of studying the Eskimo and collecting specimens of the flora and fauna of that region. G. H. Perkins of the class of '95, University of Pennsylvania, will be the commander, and the remainder of the party will consist of four students of zoology, geology, botany and archæology and a number of college students and others.

Professor Frank Russell, curator of the University of Iowa, accompanies the expedition as archæologist.

The trip from St. John's, N. F., to Labrador will be made in the ship Kite. At St. John's the Philadelphia party will be joined by ten scientists sent out to explore the coast of Ellesmere Land, and also to discover traces of the ancestors of the Greenlanders, who, it is thought, came from that place. Professor Hite of the University of Pennsylvania, who is the originator of the expedition, said: "The party will leave Philadelphia about the middle of June. The ten scientists who will join our party at St. John's will be sent out by Dr. C. T. Mendenhall, superintendent of the United States coast geological survey; General A. W. Greely, Baron von Saurmajeitsch, J. A. W. Grip, envoy extraordinary from Germany to Norway and Sweden; J. W. Powel, director United States geological survey, and Baron Adolf Erio Nordenskjold of the Royal Academy of Science, Sweden.

"These persons have supplied the wherewithal for the researches of the scientists for a period of one year. The Kite, after leaving St. John's, will cruise around the gulf of St. Lawrence, making collections at the south coast of Labrador, visiting the island of Anticosti for Eskimo remains, and will then go north along the eastern coast of Labrador as far as Cape Chidley. Parties will be left at various points along the coast, supplied with tools and equipments necessary for their researches. At Clarence head, in James sound, Ellesmere land, it is proposed to leave the ten scientists, who will erect winter quarters and a general supply station there. They will make explorations until the six months of darkness come on, when they will return to Clarence head, starting out again in the spring. It is expected to explore at least 300 miles of Ellesmere Land, which in all probability is the original home of the ancestors of the present Greenland Eskimo, who must have crossed to Greenland over 1,000 years ago. Of these people the scientists are desirous of finding traces.

"The Kite will return to Labrador, picking up the various parties, and then keep on to St. John's, arriving about Sept. 12. She will return in 1897, carrying the same number of people and for the same purpose and will bring home the party of scientists from Ellesmere Land.

Professor Hite said that the university cruise to India in September would prevent his accompanying the expedition to Labrador.—Philadelphia Press.

"OUR MR. ELIJAH A. MORSE."

Members of Congress Have Fun With That Gentleman.

Several members of the house were having a good deal of quiet fun yesterday afternoon at the expense of Mr. Morse. They had in some way obtained possession of a circular advertising letter sent out by the stove polish firm of which he is the founder and head.

The communication is on a sheet surmounted by the letter head of the company, with a picture of the establishment where the polish is manufactured. The contents of the letter paper are of the most legitimate advertising character and set forth in detail the superiority and paramount merits of the polish. At the bottom is a four line postscript stating that "our Mr. Elijah A. Morse" is a member of congress and should the recipient of the letter desire any documents or information from the national capital he would be glad to serve him. —Washington Times.

A POOR BOY CAMPAIGN.

Whoever Is Nominated the Real American Aristocracy Will Be Represented.

Whoever is nominated as the Republican candidate for the presidency we shall have "a poor boy" campaign. Governor Morton is the son of a Presbyterian parson and was earning his own living when he was 15 years old. Senator Quay is also the son of a Presbyterian parson down in the mining regions of Pennsylvania and worked his own way through college. Senator Cullom was raised on a Kentucky farm.

Senator Allison's parents were also farmers, pioneers on the western reserve, and he earned what education he got Speaker Reed's family were well to do, but he also worked for a living when a mere boy, and the same can be said of Major McKinley. Therefore the genuine American aristocracy is represented by all the candidates.—William E. Curtis in Chicago Record.

The Good Man's Imitative Dog.

"I have a dog," said a minister who had just heard a precocious story, "that is very sagacious. One Saturday he followed me to church and sat among the people and watched my movements in the pulpit. That afternoon I heard a terrible howling in my back yard and of course went to see what it meant. I found my dog was in the wood shed standing on his hind legs in a dry goods box. He held down a torn almanac with one paw and gesticulated with the other while he swayed his head and howled to an audience of four other dogs even more badly than I had done in the morning." —Danville Advocate.

MERRY MEDICINE WAR.

Chicago Druggists to Make Patent Cures of Their Own.

A factory for making remedies similar in nature to the proprietary medicines now on the market is to be started in Chicago by retail druggists. A large majority of the pharmacists are interested, and they hope to drive the medicine makers from the field.

The retail druggists have formed the United States Pharmaceutical company and have issued stock to the amount of $20,000. Almost all of this has been taken up by prominent pharmacists.

The formation of the company was the outgrowth of a recommendation made by the Illinois Pharmacists' association. The members of that association said that nothing could be done to check the cutting in prices, and that druggists must enter the field as manufacturers. As a result 250 of the retailers of Chicago met and formed a company. In two weeks more than 250 Chicago names have been added to those of the organizers, and from the state at large 100 more have come.

Their object is to fight in a practical way the cutting of prices of drugs and medicines handled by department stores and to combat at the same time the sale of medicines by the manufacturers and wholesale dealers to these stores.

Hereafter when a person wants a dose to cure a headache and asks for the remedy usually taken the druggist will advise him to take something not only "just as good," but scientifically better, because it has been compounded by a committee of physicians and druggists of the highest reputation. The same thing will be told the man who wants a blood purifier or a plaster.

CHANGES AT HARVARD.

Vote by the Faculty to Reduce Length of Study In the College.

For two weeks there has been a sharp debate in the Harvard faculty on the proposition to reduce the course of study in the college from four to three years. The Sun reporter learned on the best authority that some action was taken at the last faculty meeting, and President Eliot, when asked concerning the matter, admitted that fact. He said the faculty had voted by a small majority to reduce the number of courses required for a degree from 18 to 15, and that the idea was that any man who had passed 12 of the 15 courses with credit should receive his degree.

This means a three years' course for the college and a dissolution of all the class lines and class feeling. The majority in favor of the motion, however, was so small that the vote was not considered final. The scheme will have to be approved by the corporation and board of overseers before it can go into effect. Members of the faculty who opposed the plan think that the action would be a mistake and predict that if it passes favorably it will bring on a storm of indignation from graduates.—New York Sun.

SAVED BY THE GIRLS.

New Jersey Skater Rescued by Female Heroism and Originality.

John Mitchell, a well known young man, broke through the ice while skating on Speedwell lake near Morristown, N. J. The water was deep and cold, and Mitchell screamed for help as he struggled for life. Several young women who witnessed the accident went to his assistance and by prompt and original plans began a scheme to rescue him.

Several excited young men skated up intent on brave deeds, full of suggestions, but devoid of plans. The young women pushed them out of the way without ceremony and set about to work out Mitchell's salvation by their own methods. Two of the girls lay down on the ice and the others hold on their dresses while they reached into the water and seized the drowning man by the arms. Considerable vigorous pulling resulted in bringing Mitchell out upon the stronger ice, where he soon recovered his breath and went home to thaw out.—New York Recorder.

RICHES FOR LORD SHOLTO.

Young Douglas Reported to Have Fallen Heir to $3,000,000.

Mrs. Addis Mooney, mother-in-law of Lord Sholto Douglas, says that by the death of an uncle, Rev. Archibald Douglas, in London, Sholto will come into about $3,000,000. "We received the good news by cable yesterday," she said. "It merely announced the death of Rev. Archibald Douglas and said that there was money for Sholto, but I know all about it. His uncle was a very wealthy priest, and Sholto is his sole heir. Sholto is now in the southern part of the state, but will be here in a few days. He knows nothing about his good luck yet. The cablegram came to our home in Oakland, and Lady Douglas, who is now with me, opened it. We will telegraph to Sholto tomorrow. Of course Sholto and his wife will now give up the stage. Though they have made a big success, it would be foolish for them to work when they can live without working."—New York World.

MRS. CLEVELAND'S WEIGHT.

The Lady of the White House Surprises Her Friends.

People who knew Frances Folsom as a slight young schoolgirl and have not enjoyed the privilege of seeing her since are altogether not prepared for the development which has taken place since her marriage. Mrs. Cleveland has acquired additional weight almost imperceptibly, but none the less surely. It does not detract in the slightest degree from her charming presence, and many of her friends believe that with her carriage the added weight was almost necessary.

Some of Mrs. Cleveland's most intimate friends have been particularly curious of late to know how much she actually weighed, but they were not altogether prepared for the statement she made the other day to one of her friends that she now tipped the scales at exactly 196 pounds.—New York World.

Alligator In an Oyster.

Frank Yoder, a grocer in Hazleton, Pa., while opening oysters the other day found a young alligator in one. It was alive and frisky, and the only deformity was the absence of its hind legs. Mr. Yoder will send the reptile to the Academy of Natural Sciences in Philadelphia.—Philadelphia Press.

Indications Hopeful.

"Dear father," wrote the young man who had gone to the far west and hung up his shingle as a physician, "there is a great deal of sickness here, of one kind and another, and I hope soon, by the blessing of Providence, to have plenty of work to do in my profession."—Chicago Tribune

Probably Has Not Occurred to Him.

"If the British lion," chuckled the American eagle, "is hurrying to discover the south pole so he can wrap his tail around it and take possession, let him go ahead. The revolution of the earth on its axis will give his tail the hardest twist it has ever had yet."—Chicago Tribune.

A REGION OF WONDER

THE MYSTERIOUS COUNTRY NEAR THE SCHOMBURGK LINE.

High Plateau With Precipitous Sides Which Modern Man Has Been Unable to Scale—May Contain Prehistoric Animals and Trees—Proposed as a Park.

Perhaps the result of the Venezuela boundary commission's work will be the solving of one of the most remarkable geological enigmas in the world and the exploration of what is regarded as a unique natural wonderland. This remarkable region is a number of elevated and isolated areas of land, situated on what the British call British Guiana's southwestern boundary, which is in the disputed territory. It is on the British side of the Schomburgk line. A British Guiana newspaper describes this region, as far as it is known, and expresses the hope that the final settlement of the boundary controversy will leave it well within British bounds. Should there be another result, however, the newspaper says, the region should be made an international park, something on the plan of the Yellowstone park reservation.

The region is called by the Indians "Roraima," but the several isolated areas are known by distinctive names. Each consists of what might be called an isolated mountain, but is really a tableland, comprising an area of 100 or more square miles, elevated several thousand feet above the surrounding country. The rocky sides of the mountains are as perpendicular as the Hudson river Palisades and entirely bare of vegetation and have defied all attempts to scale them. The level summits are covered with trees and other vegetation, and down the rocky sides fall a large number of cascades of considerable size, indicating the certain existence of rivers and streams on the mysterious summits, and probably of lakes that feed the rivers. The summits have been observed with telescopes, and are known to be as full of plant life as the tropical plains below, but beyond this nothing is known.

Because so little is known of the condition of these tablelands occasion is given for all manner of speculation as to what exists there. That the vegetation is quite different from that on the plains below the telescope shows, and that it should be so is quite natural, as the tablelands are 2,000 or more feet higher than the plains. While the climate of the plains is tropical, that of the tablelands must be temperate, not only because of their elevation, but also because of the free play the winds have about them.

Of the geology of the region this explanation is given: This part of South America rose slowly from the sea, through successive and remote ages. The Roraima mountains were formed precisely as was the rest of the land, and are not the result of volcanic action. Hence they must have been above the ocean long before the surrounding plains appeared. They stood 2,000 feet above the sea level when the neighboring mountain tops were but islands in the ocean. In the course of a period, difficult to appreciate, the adjacent valleys and plains appeared above the water and became covered with vegetation and animal life. But the isolated plateaus of Roraima had a tremendous start of the plains below. Here comes the alleged ground for the speculation that perhaps on these mysterious summits there exist flora and fauna unlike any found elsewhere, forms of life that long since disappeared from other parts of the world, but remained the same on these summits because unaffected by the influences of communication with the outer world. All sorts of wild guesses have been hazarded regarding the existence of strange reptiles and animals among the streams and forests of Roraima.

The cascades falling from the summits are among the highest in the world. One is 2,000 feet high, and is broad enough to be visible 30 miles away. It falls sheer, without a break. The mountains from which these cascades fall form the dividing watersheds of the Amazon, the Orinoco and the Essequibo, the three great rivers of South America, and the waters of the cascades flow some to one and some to another of these rivers. It is argued that to supply these waterfalls there must be a considerable body of water on the mountain plateaus, and it is natural to conclude that where there are large bodies of water there are fish and reptiles. The resulting conclusion that, because these fish and reptiles must have been isolated on the mountain tops for ages they are likely to be different from any known species, is regarded as quite natural. The mountain plateaus form practically little countries by themselves like islands, but more isolated because the ocean of air that surrounds them does not afford the facilities for communication with other islands that the waters of the ocean do.

One of these plateaus, known as Kukenham, which is better situated for observation than any of the others, is estimated to have an area of 200 square miles or more. The smallest, which bears the name common to the group, Roraima, is estimated to contain 80 to 140 square miles.

The story of this mysterious region is not new, at least in British Guiana. It is many years since any scientific men were in the region, but chance travelers and gold prospectors happen there at odd times, and when they return to Demerara they add their little store of information and mystification to the rest. Schomburgk pointed out the great importance of the region to Great Britain, as it is the dividing watershed, but the writer in the British Guiana newspaper does not say whether the exploring botanist had much to say about the wonders and mysteries of the Roraima region.—New York Sun.

OUR FOREIGN TRADE.

The Way In Which Our Export of Manufactures Should Be Built Up.

To work up a demand and properly to introduce our manufactured goods in foreign markets require greater energy and aptitude than in selling cereals, provisions and raw materials, for the reason that it becomes necessary to cater to the tastes and overcome the prejudices of consumers, while in the case of raw materials the exporter deals only with wholesalers and manufacturers, who themselves convert the products into manufactured articles suitable to the wants of their people. Hence a manufacturer and exporter must expend much time, labor and money to introduce his wares abroad, requiring a large preliminary outlay and careful study of the wants of the different markets, coupled with untiring energy and perseverance. Returns and profits are necessarily slow. That frequently discourages exporters in their first efforts, and causes them to abandon the attempt to introduce their goods in competition with others already well known and established in the market they seek to enter.

The prejudices of foreigners are difficult to overcome, but the energy and ingenuity of our business men who go abroad to cultivate new markets should be equal to the occasion and capable of overcoming all obstacles. With our inexhaustible natural resources, improved machinery and inventions of all kinds, and an increasing supply of skilled labor every year, this country is capable of making rapid strides in the expansion of its foreign export trade, provided our capitalists, manufacturers and merchants give it the thought and attention that it deserves. If only one-half of the capital, energy and attention that is now absorbed in manipulating stocks, trusts, questionable mining companies, and other inflated schemes was devoted to the development of legitimate manufacturing enterprises, and to seeking consumers for their products abroad, the country would become more and more prosperous each year, and be able to provide employment for her skilled artisans, whose labor is the foundation and mainstay of her wealth.—"Our Foreign Trade," by Fenton T. Newberry, in Century.

NOVEL HEADACHE CURE.

Which Proves That It's an Ill Wind That Blows Nobody Good.

The latest "cure" suggested for the relief of headache is a hair cut. A certain physician in London has met with great success lately in his treatment of persistent cases of "nervous" headaches, and he has finally disclosed the secret.

In each case, he says, after the patient had laid bare a long tale of woe—of sleepless nights and miserable days—he prescribed, briefly, a simple hair cut. It is not necessary that the hair should be cropped off short, after the fashion of convicts.

The curative property of the treatment is based on the fact that the tube which is contained in each single hair is severed in the process, and the brain "bleeds," as the barbers say, thereby opening a safety valve for the congested cranium. A commentator in the London society press, in referring to this cure, says:

"Try the cure when next attacked by headache, and if the result be not satisfactory rest assured that it is not the fault of the prescription, but that the head is so wooden that it 'wooden't' act."

A NOVEL FETE.

Women to Saw Two Hundred and Fifty Cords of Wood to Build a Church.

In and about Equinunk and Little Equinunk, Wayne county, Pa., the men are hardy, big hearted mountaineers and tradesmen. The women are good looking, healthy and intelligent.

The members of the Methodist church are endeavoring to raise funds to build a new church and have a peculiar contract with the Equinunk Chemical company, which owns one of the largest wood acid factories in this country.

The women of the church have agreed to cut and pile 250 cords of wood for the company at $1 per cord.

The idea is attracting attention throughout the section and promises to provide a fete week for Equinunk people.

The invitation was sent out by Minnie Sherwood, June Southwell and May Butterfield. It asks the women to bring an ax, saw, two wedges and a good sized maul, the job to be done in a workmanlike manner. Already many women have decided to take part and are sharpening their axes.—New York World.

To Keep Store Windows From Freezing.

Storekeepers were skeptical when assured a year ago that an electrical fan, kept in constant motion in a show window, would prevent the formation of frost on the windows, thus rendering useless the elaborate displays of goods, which they were often at great expense to make. A single trial proved that the device was effective, and during the recent cold weather the little fans were noted buzzing industriously in the clear windows of many Sixth avenue and Twenty-third street and Broadway stores.—New York Journal.

Lincoln's Height.

The admirable speech of Hon. Thomas B. Reed in your paper of Feb. 9 contains one error which I would like to correct. Mr. Reed says Mr. Lincoln was 6 feet 4 inches in height. Mr. Lincoln told my father that he was exactly 6 feet 3 inches only a short time before his tragic death. Mr. Lincoln was very fond of tall men, and generally knew their exact height and never hesitated to say, "I am exactly 6 feet 3."—Emma Gurley Adams in New York Press.

Candidate For the Wickedest Town.

The Rev. William Gill, who has just completed a two weeks' revival in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., resulting in the conversion of nearly 1,000 persons, says Poughkeepsie is the wickedest place in which he has ever conducted meetings. He received for his work more than $600 in contributions, but it is said he expected $1,000. During the services 250 hymnbooks belonging to Mr. Gill were stolen. The committee paid him $60 for them.

General Agnus as an Author.

General Felix Agnus, editor of the Baltimore American, read before the Army and Navy club of Washington the other evening his novelette entitled "A Woman of War," a southern war sketch founded on an incident which occurred when General Agnus was one of Major General Banks' famous "forlorn hope" before Port Hudson. The story has been dramatized, and is now in rehearsal for the legitimate stage.

A Lumber Item.

Ten years ago the logs in Wisconsin ran four or five to 1,000 feet of lumber. Now 12, 15 and even 20 logs are required to furnish as much. In five years the decrease in diameter of the pine trees cut for lumber has been 35 per cent.

A LONG CAREER OF CRIME.

For Forty-five Years Brockway Has Been a Forger and Counterfeiter.

The recent trial and conviction at Trenton of William E. Brockway and his gang of counterfeiters, in which the secretary of the treasury was a witness, was one of the most notable criminal cases of recent times, as Brockway himself is one of the most notable criminals. He has the appearance of a venerable and respected church member. He is 74 years of age. As a lad he was apprenticed to a printer of state bank notes. He studied chemistry at Yale.

His career as a forger and counterfeiter began in 1850. He was arrested by the government in October, 1880, for the forgery of $204,000 United States 6 per cent $1,000 bonds. For this he was sentenced to 80 years in prison, but upon his surrendering all his counterfeiting tools and giving valuable information concerning similar swindles sentence was suspended.

WILLIAM E. BROCKWAY.

He was arrested again in 1883 for forging Morris and Essex railroad bonds and sentenced to five years in state prison. The suspended sentence was, for some reason, not enforced against him.

Brockway lived for many years under the name of Spencer at 264 Clermont avenue, Brooklyn, with his wife, son and daughter. He passed as a sea captain, and his absences from home were accounted for as "voyages." The family were members of Dr. Baker's Church of the Messiah, and Brockway himself frequently attended the services there

He was supposed to be an eminently respectable member of society until he quarreled with his wife and, so it is said, shot her. Soon afterward he was arrested for crossing the Wall street "dead line," and his real character was disclosed. It is said that his family, up to that time, had been in ignorance of his real business, supposing him to be an honest engraver and printer.

The details of the arrest at Hoboken last fall of Brockway and his accomplices are well known. The detectives captured $200,000 in Canadian notes, with only the reverse side printed; $200,000 in United States gold certificates, nearly finished, and fiber paper prepared for printing $400,000 more. It is said that the counterfeiters were backed by some of the wealthiest and cleverest criminals in the country.

Preacher Drank Whisky at a Funeral.

Rev. Jesse J. Rossberry, a prominent Baptist minister of Central City, W. Va., was arrested for drinking while in a funeral procession. The day was very cold, and the minister, while near the center of the town, turned his vehicle to one side, and, pulling a flask of whisky from his pocket, took a drink. Marshal Griffith, who chanced to be near at the time, arrested the minister, and he was taken before Mayor Hall, and, in addition to a fine, the mayor delivered him a rigid lecture. After paying the fine the minister drove at a rapid rate toward the cemetery, and on arriving there found that the procession had been waiting for him for almost half an hour. The minister claims that his physician prescribed the whisky, and that he was going according to directions. He is 54 years of age and has been preaching for 27 years.

An Individual Preference.

"Some fellers as is interested in silver wants silver money," remarked Plodding Pete thoughtfully, "while others thinks gold is right. I've even heard of fellers that wanted to deposit wheat an things an git currency fur 'em."

"Yep," replied Meandering Mike. "A good deal depens on yer pos'nal interests. Now ez fur me, I think a heap o' time could be saved by gittin out orders on responsible breweries negotiable at all the bars in the country."—Washington Star.

He Was Making Money.

"I was amused at the answer I received to a question on a Chicago and Alton railroad train," said E. P. Chapman at the Howard House. "At Bloomington two men entered the train and took a seat immediately in front of me. I did not see them come in and paid no attention to them until one of the men went into the smoking car. It then occurred to me that I wanted to know something about Bloomington as a business point, so, leaning forward, I commenced a conversation.

"'I see you got on at Bloomington. How is it as a business point?'

"'Fairly good.'

"'Were you in business there?'

"'Yes.'

"'What line?'

"'Making money.'

"'Are you going to Chicago?'

"'No, I am moving to Joliet. It is not so good a point for me as Bloomington, but I had a chance to take a steady contract there for five years, and I took it. There is too much uncertainty in the money making business.'

"Then I noticed that he was handcuffed to the seat. He had told me the exact truth—he was going to Joliet penitentiary five years for counterfeiting."—Washington Star.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

The Plans for the Electric Works' Addition Arrive.

A Man and a Boy Badly Injured at Forest, Ohio—Walked Off a Train.

The plans and specifications for the proposed addition to the electric works have arrived and estimates on the cost of the building and its equipment are now being made. The building will be a two story brick, and will cost about $40,000. The machinery, including hoisting and traveling cranes, line shafting, boilers and engines, will probably cost double that amount, making the total about $125 000. Mr. McDonald has not yet fully decided to make the improvement, but it is sincerely hoped he may do so soon.

TWO ACCIDENTS.

John Ferrell, supposed to be a tramp, lost a leg at Forest, Ohio, last evening by falling under the wheels while attempting to jump on Pittsburg train No. 70. Conductor Ronk picked the unfortunate man up and turned him over to the Forest authorities. A few hours before this accident occurred a nine-year-old boy, whose parents reside in Forest, fell under the wheels of a Big Four train and had both legs cut off at the knees. He was still living when our informant last heard from him, but the chances for his recovery are very slim. This accident was witnessed by some Pittsburg trainmen who were greatly shocked by it.

C. M. Murray, of the Chicago and Alton; and C. A. Hartwell, of the Santa Fe, traveling passenger agents, are in the city looking up business.

A SOMNAMBULIST INJURED

Yesterday morning Aaron Cross was picked up alongside the track of the Nickel Plate railroad, near Burkett. He was unconscious and taken to the poor house. An examination showed that he had his collar bone broken in two places, his shoulder blade dislocated and a couple of ribs fractured. He was badly bruised about the body, and will probably die. Cross was on the incoming train, No. 2, that arrived there about 3:39 yesterday morning, and was asleep in his seat. A brakeman called "Burkett," and it is supposed he walked off the train while half awake. It was nearly 7 o'clock when he was found by another train crew.

THREATENS SUIT AGAINST THE COMPANY.

George Waldschmidt, an employe of the Pittsburg shops threatens to bring suit against the United States Benevolent society, of Saginaw, Mich., to compel them to pay him $15, alleged to be due on account of being incapacitated by a lame back, which was due to accident. Mr. Waldschmidt holds Dr. M I Rosenthal's certificate that he was unfit for duty from February 5 to 20, and states that the insurance company refused to pay him on the grounds that he was too old to receive indemnity for injuries to his back. According to his policy he is entitled to $7 50 for each week of disability.

TO VOTE ON SUNDAY CLOSING

Monster Legislative Petition From the City of New York.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 28—A petition containing the names of 115 000 citizens of New York city was wheeled into the senate chamber on an oak carriage trimmed with silver. The occasion was the hearing by the joint excise committee on the question of liberal Sunday opening laws for New York, Brooklyn and Buffalo The petition asks the enactment of a law referring to the voters of cities of the first class at the spring election of 1896 the question whether the sale of beverages, milk and food shall be permitted on Sunday, under proper restrictions to be fixed by statute. John B Penner, chairman of the German-American Citizens' union, presented the petition. Rev. Dr. Rainsford, rector of St. George's church, of New York city, spoke in favor of allowing a vote to be taken, saying it would result in a distinct moral advance for the people. Carl Schurz, Gustav Schwab, Ferdinand Levy, James Speyer and Judge Jerolomon also advocated the passage of the law.

COMET "A" 196.

Uncertainty About Its Discovery is Cleared Up.

MOUNT HAMILTON, Cal., Feb. 28—The Science Observer special circular No. 111, dated February 20, from Boston, just received at the Lick observatory, contains information which seems to clear up the uncertainty heretofore existing regarding the discovery of comet "A" 196 From this circular it seems that the observation obtained at Kiel on February 13 was of Perrine's comet of 1895 (C), and that there was an error in the message received at the Lick observatory which gave its right ascension as 19 hours, 15 minutes, 47 9 seconds, instead of 19 hours, 44 minutes, 47 9 seconds. The declination agreed with that obtained here. As has already been stated a new comet was observed at the Lick observatory by C. D Perrine, not far from the position indicated in the erroneous despatch, and this fact was duly announced. In answer to this announcement a second message was received from Kiel giving the position of the new comet and also confirming the fact that the observation of February 13 was of comet "C" 195. This leaves no doubt that Perrine is the discoverer of the new comet, although final confirmation awaits mail advices from Germany.

HORRIBLE FIND.

Two Bodies, Cold in Death, Discovered in a Cellar.

Edward Peters Shoots the Girl Who Rejected Him and Then Kills Himself.

CHICAGO, Feb. 28—The dead bodies of Flora Larbig, seventeen years old, and Edward Peters, nineteen years old, were found today in the basement of the building at 350 West Fourteenth street, where Peters lived. Both bodies were cold, and the murder and suicide, for such it appeared to be, had evidently been committed sometime last night. The girl had a gaping bullet wound behind the left ear, Peters' death being caused by a shot in the right temple. Peters had been out of work for sometime, and despondency over this and his rejection by Miss Larbig were, it is believed, the causes that drove him to the crime.

Bound to Get There.

Two Irishmen went out skating not long since, and one took a bottle of whisky with him as a sort of "heart warmer." When they decided to "hit the bottle," they found the cork was very tight and impossible to get out without a corkscrew.

"Can't yez get it out, Moike?" said Pat, after a few minutes of hard work by Mike with the cork.

"Yis, begob," said Mike, "I'll git it out shure if Oi have to push it in."—Princeton Tiger.

A Wasted Compliment.

"Yes, I told him that it was said that kisses were much sweeter in the dark"—

"And he turned down the gas?"

"The idiot did nothing of the kind. He just sat there like a stick and said that if a girl were as handsome as I he thought darkness would detract from the pleasantness of the occasion. It was a very nice compliment, but there is a time to speak and a time to act."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

DECISION RENDERED.

Legacy to Sadie Rockhill Bears Interest and a Charge on Real Estate.

Last Evening's Huntington Democrat

W. W. Rockhill and Judge Morris of Fort Wayne, are in attendance at court here today. The former gentleman is postmaster, while the latter is of the law firm of Morris, Bell, Barrett & Morris, of Fort Wayne

The petition of Sadie M Rockhill, by W. W. Rockhill, next friend, that the court shall by its decree declare the true interpretation and construction of will of the testatrix, Anna M Holt, concerning the question whether the legacy therein bequeathed to her bears interest from the demise of the testatrix and as to whether the legacy is made a charge upon the real estate of the testatrix Submitted on agreed statement of facts. Judge Lowry found that said legacy was intended to bear interest from the date of the demise of the testatrix and that the same does constitute a charge on said real estate and the decree was entered accordingly. By the will probated, Sadie M Rockhill was bequeathed $3 000, to be placed in the hands of E T. Taylor, as trustee, to invest until she became of age and by the above decision the amount bequeathed is interest bearing from the date of Mrs. Holt's death and is a charge upon the real estate.

The Cuban Debate Crowds the Senate Galleries.

Under Attorney General Harmon Pushes Action Against Bond Investment Companies.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—The senate galleries were well filled at the opening of the session today in anticipation of the culmination of the Cuban debate and the final vote set for 4 o'clock. Shortly after the session opened Representative Hitt, chairman of the house committee on foreign affairs, joined Mr. Sherman, chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations, in a whispered conference at Mr. Sherman's desk. The Ohio senator announced that the Cuban question would be taken up without waiting for the usual expiration of the morning hour at 2 o'clock. Mr. Allen, populist, of Nebraska, asked to withdraw the resolutions for the appointment of Mr. Lloyd as a senate official. This brought on another discussion as to adding a populist official to the rolls. Mr. Allen finally withdrew the resolutions. Mr. Sherman then moved that the Cuban resolutions be taken up and this prevailed without objection. Chairman Hitt remained along side Mr. Sherman as the debate proceeded. Baron Von Kettler, of the German embassy, occupied a seat in the diplomatic gallery. By this time the public galleries were filled to their full limit and there was promise of a crush.

The floor was yielded for the adoption of the conference on the pension appropriation bill; also for the passage of the bill relating to the anchorage and movement of vessels in St. Marys river.

Mr. Lindsay, (dem.), of Kentucky, then addressed the senate on the Cuban resolutions. He said the conflict in Cuba was at our very doors and was being waged with such desperation that only one of two results could come, either the complete independence of Cuba on one hand or the utter annihilation of the Cuban people on the other. The senator said he approached the subject from the standpoint of humanity rather than of law.

Declarations of sympathy would avail nothing to the Cubans. Declarations that they had progressed to the stage of belligerents would avail nothing. "If the United States intends taking any step that will vail these struggling Cubans, that step should be in the direction of the ultimate independence of Cuba," declared Mr. Lindsay in his stentorian tones. In the past, he continued, the United States had not hesitated to take the position of recognizing independence under circumstances similar to those now existing in Cuba. Quoting from international authorities, the senator maintained that a condition now existed in Cuba justifying the United States in considering a proposition for active intervention to restore public order and in behalf of humanity.

"But," said Mr. Lindsay, "the resolution offered did not contemplate active intervention. It extended our good offices to Spain with a view to securing the ultimate independence of Cuba. And such independence is the only basis which will bring lasting peace to Cuba, judging from the experience of seventy years. The United States could not relieve itself from the responsibility of seeing that Spain showed this island some kind of justice. Could we say to the world that unless Cuba secured her independence by her own unaided efforts she must remain under the abject subjection of Spain? Should we not say to Spain that some sort of protection, some sort of justice and liberty consistent with an enlightened age must be shown to these people? Spain now contemplated the annihilation of all the able bodied men of Cuba in order to crush this uprising. Spain owes to Cuba as much a Turkey owes to Armenia, or as the United States to Venezuela—a duty of protection, and if this protection was not given, then the point had been reached where the United States should move for the severance of Cuba from Spain.

At 1:15 Mr. Sherman began his speech, closing the debate. He spoke of the keen sensitiveness of the Spanish people and their tendency to quickly resent any act they regarded as injurious to them. "But," said Mr. Sherman, he felt that the time had come when the United States must intervene to put an end to crime almost beyond description." The senator said he would not re-enter on the legal arguments so fully covered by Mr. Morgan, but he referred to several pamphlets presented by Mr. Estrada Palma, the agent and representative of the Cubans in this country.

Mr. Sherman said the statement bore the stamp of authority. He said it overcame the misapprehension that the Cubans were scattered, unorganized bands. It showed the organization of a legislature, the army, of the president—the latter a man of high character. It was as complete an organization as the United States had during the revolutionary war.

Sherman, in the course of his speech, declared he did not favor Cuba's annexation to the United States, but strongly favored its annexation to Mexico, a kindred people.

Mr. Gallinger followed Senator Sherman in the senate with a strong appeal for the recognition of Cuban independence. He said that Cuba was making the same struggle that this country made in 1775 and that Weyler was a tyrant. He believed that Cuba would attain her independence, but that this country could make the contest briefer with a proper word of encouragement.

Under Attorney General Harmon's decision sustaining the former action of the postoffice department, Postmaster General Wilson is pushing the fight against the bond investment companys operating lottery schemes. Telegraphic instructions have been sent since by him to secure the arrest of a number of officials of these concerns operating in the southwest and today an order was issued to all postmasters refusing the use of the mails to the Equitable Investment company of Fort Worth, Texas. The mails also will be barred against the officers of the company. Another order has been issued against Harry Lovell, of Chicago.

The president has sent to the house his veto of the bill to authorize the leasing of certain land in Arizona for educational purposes.

The house election committee decided today to report in favor of unseating Mr. Robbins, democrat, of the Fourth district of Alabama and giving his seat to W. F. Aldrich, the contestant, who was supported by republicans and populists. The decision was reached by a party vote, the republicans claiming that ballot box stuffing was practiced.

THE BERMUDA CASE

Develops Some Features Pleasing to the Cubans.

The Stranahan and Its Cargo of Arms and Ammunition Will Undoubtedly be Released.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—The United States authorities have taken a step in the Bermuda case that gives great satisfaction to the Cubans. Heretofore there has been no legal process in connection with the seizure of the steamship and the lighter James S. T. Stranahan and the lighter's cargo of arms and ammunition. They were detained under executive orders, the president of the United States having power to act in such cases, but no court authority had been brought into requisition, except in the case of the men for whom warrants had been issued. James J. Macklin, attorney for McCaldin Bros., who own the steamer Stranahan, made a demand on the United States marshal Wednesday for the release of the lighter.

He was asked to wait until the district attorney could look into the matter and readily acceded. District Attorney McFarlane last night filed a libel and information on behalf of the government against the cargo of the Stranahan, described as containing 300 packages of gunpowder and dynamite, cartridges and other substances of like character. The action is brought under sections 4475 and 4476 of the United States revised statutes, which provide for the packing of explosives for shipment and a penalty of a fine not exceeding $2,000, or imprisonment not exceeding eighteen months, or both, for violation of the requirements, which are that they "shall be securely packed and put up separately from each other and from all other articles, and the package, box, cask or other vessel containing the same shall be distinctly marked on the outside with the name or description of the article contained therein."

The cases on the Stranahan containing explosives are alleged to have been not thus marked. The libel notifies all concerned to appear March 17 before Judge Brown, in the United States district court, to show cause why the packages described should not be seized and forfeited. Speaking of the case, Horatio S. Rubens, general counsel for the Cubans, said: "The action of the district attorney shows that he has abandoned the idea of acting on the ground of infraction of the neutrality laws. He thus introduces a novelty in such cases. There was no warrant for the government's action on the lines followed, because in all the cases that have gone before based on the neutrality laws, the government has failed."

Put Him Back in Prison.

MUNCIE, Ind., Feb. 28.—Warden Harly, of the Michigan City prison, came to Muncie last night after Thomas Lee, who was released yesterday, two months ahead of time. In receiving Lee Warden French wrote the word "May." the time Lee was received, "Mar," and it was mistaken for March. While enroute here to be released Lee told Sheriff Sherry that a mistake had been made and the prison officials were notified, discovering the error.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 28.—A local paper says the anarchists of the city will soon organize under the leadership of Pietro Gori, the Italian anarchist who was formerly the instructor of President Carnot's assassin. Gori arrived in the city several weeks ago and attracted considerable attention by attending several social events where Prince Luigi, King Humbert's nephew was a guest.

WAS BLACKMAIL.

Confession of One of the Accusers of Rev. Dr. Brown.

Martha Overman Says She Plotted to Ruin the Character of the Man Whose Hospitality She Enjoyed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 28.—The Rev. Dr. Brown, after two months silence has given his defense to the public. The story is the most startling which has yet been told in the scandal. It was related as a confession to the ecclesiastical court last night by Miss Martha Overman, who is the first in the sensational case to confess herself a blackmailer. Miss Overman's manner was striking. She spoke so quietly that even the members of the council were forced to draw forward until their chairs formed a semi circle on the platform. The woman spoke deliberately, weaving a remarkable story, logically and clearly. She confessed that she was a blackmailer and thief; she gave the information with a smile. She confessed that she planned the destruction of the man whose hospitality she now enjoys. She declared that to save herself from work and the possible hardships of poverty she conspired with Mrs. Mary A. Davidson to ruin the character of the Rev. Dr. Brown and to blacken her own. She asserted that she approached the representatives of a morning newspaper with a hope of tempting them to blackmail the accused pastor. She drew her recital to a dramatic climax by asserting, with the smile that never left her face, that she wrote the letters which picture her own moral and physical ruin and place the cause of her deep distress at the door of Rev. Dr. Brown. Asserting all this, she denied that there had ever been the slightest impropriety in her relations with the man against whom she plotted so shrewdly.

DAMON AND PYTHIAS.

The Beautiful Story Repeated in Missouri During the War.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Feb. 28.—President Homer T. Fuller, of Drury college, announces that he has received a singular proposition from a wealthy Massachusetts man, whose identity he would not disclose. The man offers Drury a large sum of money if it will verify the truth of a war incident which is alleged to have taken place in Missouri, and which, if true, the Massachusetts man thinks equals the story of Damon and Pythias. The president announced that the college would accept the offer, and he requests the students to help him secure positive evidence of it, if such a thing really did occur. The story is that in the early part of the war a detachment of confederate troops in Missouri took about 400 Union prisoners. Twelve of these prisoners were lined up and shot without provocation by the confederate officers. Upon hearing of this act, the commander of the Federal regiment drafted twelve confederate prisoners to be shot in retaliation. As the line was being formed a young man named William Lear stepped forward and asked permission to take the place of one of the condemned men, who was his friend. The request was granted and Lear was shot in place of his friend."

General Uprising.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Mr. Warner Miller, of the Nicaragua Canal Construction company, said last night that he has been expecting for some time a general uprising in Central America. "Such an uprising, however," he added, "would not affect the Nicaragua canal interests. The United States government has always afforded us ample protection and all our grants and concessions have been given regularly by acts of congress, so that we have nothing to fear from any political overturning."

TICKET NAMED.

State Prohibition Convention Held at Indianapolis.

Nominate Candidates for State Officers and Decide Upon a "Broad-Gauge" Platform.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 28.—The state convention of the prohibition party was captured yesterday by the "broad gauge" faction. The resolutions denounce the liquor traffic, indorse the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold on a ratio of 16 to 1, favor an amendment to the constitution that will enable congress to pass an income tax law and ask for amendments to existing laws that will prevent competition of pauper European labor with American workmen.

Mrs. Helen M. Gougar offered a resolution declaring that the Nicholson temperance law is a sham and a fraud and that it shows that all nonpartisan efforts to regulate the liquor traffic are failures. Mrs. Gougar spoke in defense of her resolution, but it was laid on the table by a decided vote. There were few contests for the offices to be filled at the coming election, though as many as two or three names were sometimes presented for a single nomination. The following ticket was nominated:

Governor—Rev. E. G. Shouse, Vigo county.

Lieutenant-Governor—J. G. Kingsbury, Marion.

Secretary of State—J. E. Ellsworth, Adams.

Auditor of State—H. C. Hanson, Lake.

Treasurer—Sylvester Johnson, Marion.

Attorney-General—S. M. Saylor, Huntington.

Statistician—J. E. Woodard, Parke.

Reporter Supreme Court—V. P. Kirk, Marshall.

Superintendent Public Instruction—C. W. Lodgin, Wayne.

Ex-Governor St. John, of Kansas, was in attendance and insisted that the convention adopt the "broad gauge" platform—that is, endorse free silver in addition to demanding the absolute prohibition of the liquor traffic. He said he had attended many prohibition conventions, but had never attended a larger and better one than this. The convention was bound to have an influence upon the party politics of the nation. "We are not here to make any deals," said he. "We are here without war paint on." Just now, he said, there was much said about "narrow gauge" and "broad gauge." The platform of the prohibition party would be as broad as the demands of humanity. The party was coming into power in this country. He believed that, instead of establishing inebriate asylums, the government should strike at the root of the evil. "You can not make an issue dominant by a platform resolution," said he. "It is not the importance of an issue that makes it dominant, but the number that gather around it. I believe prohibition was the important issue at the last election, but it lacked 11,000,000 votes of being the dominant issue. The tariff was the dominant issue."

The following are delegates to the national prohibition convention, selected at the district meetings:

First District—J. W. Emmons and J. M. Daniels; Second, H. S. Boneib and O. S. Dobbins; Third, Rev. E. L. Sanders and John W. Montgomery; Fourth, S. V. Wright and Ellen B. Wright; Fifth, Levi I. Hadley and W. M. Taylor; Sixth, G. W. Hagan and Aaron Worth; Seventh, S. B. McNaughton and R. L. Lockwood; Eighth, Sumner W. Haines and M. W. Hawkings; Ninth, D. F. Maish and L. M. Crist; Tenth, Helen M. Gougar and W. C. Court; Eleventh, William Lenfesty and G. D. Scott; Twelfth, D. F. Cain and I. W. Markey; Thirteenth, S. W. McClure and Joshua Collens.

The following are the delegates-at-large to the national convention: Rev. J. M. Daniel, Princeton; Helen K. Denny, Vincennes; Jesse B. Davis, Scottsburg; T. R. Woodard, Columbus; William Edgerton, Dunreith; D. G. Carter, Rosedale; F. King, Carmel; H. L. Davis, Lafayette; J. S. Nelson, Fort Wayne; G. W. Dutt, Columbia City; Eli Cobbeshall, Marion; Jesse B. Davis, Scottsburg

HIS RECORD BAD.

Lewis, the Deceased Bank Robber, Was a Tough.

Used to Live in Neosho, Neb., and Bore a Very Bad Reputation in That Town.

NEOSHO, Neb., Feb. 28.—The news of the bank robbery at Wichita Falls, Texas, in which Elmer Lewis, formerly of this place, was implicated, and for which he was lynched, has just reached this city. Lewis was a son of James Lewis, and had always lived here until about a year ago, when he went to the territory. Later he returned, and left last fall, taking with him his cousin, Miss Lulu Hunter. He was never known to be engaged in lawlessness to any consequence, but always wanted to convey the idea of being a bad man and the news caused no great surprise. His father is master mechanic in the Neosho foundry at this place and for a number of years has been leading a quiet life, although he was implicated in a highway robbery in this county a number of years ago, for which he served a sentence in the penitentiary. The authorities of Wichita have been authorized by the father to give him a decent burial, stating that he would pay all expenses. Nothing is known of the whereabouts of the young woman he took from here with him.

TWICE FINED.

Warwick's Plea That His Drunk Was Continuous Doesn't Save Him.

KOKOMO, Ind., Feb. 28.—An interesting point in the saloon law was passed upon yesterday in a justice court here, after a long contest. Some time ago Harvey Warwick, a saloonkeeper, was arrested for intoxication, but resisted prosecution on the ground that it was the same drunk for which he was arrested the previous day, and that he could not be legally punished twice for the same offense. Able lawyers were employed on both sides, and the case was hotly contested. Warwick insisted that, being an old saloonkeeper and a good judge of liquor, he could tell what kind of a jag he had on and how long it took to get over it, being a continuous jag, with no new material added to the accumulation. 'Squire DeHaven ruled that, if it was all one drunk, it was big enough for two, and accordingly assessed a second fine, both arrests costing Warwick about $10.

WOMAN'S JEALOUSY

Causes Trouble in the Salvation Army.

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—The Record today says: "There are intimations that one woman's jealousy of another woman's success lies at the root of the trouble in the Salvation Army, and that the beautiful and intellectual Maud Ballington Booth is the thorn in the flesh. Major Addie, of Springfield, commander of the Illinois division of the Salvation Army, and Major Stillwell, of Minneapolis, directing the forces in Minneapolis and northern Michigan, are in the city. A delegation of Salvationists met them on their return from the east and plied them with questions concerning the trouble between the Booths and the revolution in New York. Major Addie said: I don't know what the trouble is nor does any one else in the army but General Booth's immediate family. It is a family difficulty entirely and, being that, we look for an amicable adjustment of it all when the general gets home from India."

CONGRESSMAN LEIGHTY

Will Not Say That He Will Accept a Renomination.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 28.—Congressman Leighty, of Indiana, can not be induced to say whether or not he will be a candidate for congress, although the presumption is that he will again accept the nomination. He realizes, however, that the district is very close if not democratic, and he believes that whoever is nominated ought to secure the honor without any division or party sentiment. The Twelfth district is usually democratic by 3,000 plurality. Mr. Leighty realizes that his strongest local danger is in the nomination of a popular Allen county democrat. The man most prominently mentioned is J. M. Robinson, of Fort Wayne.

GOOD DETECTIVE WORK.

Bank Robber Traced Through Many Countries.

Stole $40,000 in Spain Ten Years Ago and Sleuthhounds Have Just Located Him.

GUANAJUATO, Mex., Feb. 28.—Juan P. Vertuga, a Spanish merchant, has been arrested at Ibarra, a mountain town north of here, on the charge of committing a bank robbery in Spain ten years ago. He is alleged to have stolen $40,000 and fled the country. He was traced to New York and thence through the western states of the United States, thence to Cuba and South America, and from the latter to Mexico. Vertuga has been living at Ibarra for two years and made a great display of wealth in the little town. He will be taken back to Spain.

FLYING MACHINE A FAILURE.

Farmer Naramore Makes Just One Trip and Now Needs Arnica.

UTICA, Mich., Feb. 28.—About four miles west of Utica lives Andrew Naramore, an aged farmer and inventor of no little genius. Some time ago Mr. Naramore decided to eclipse all his contemporaries in the inventive line by constructing a flying machine. This machine consisted of a huge pair of wings, which were propelled by motions of the arms, a pair of tails so constructed as somewhat to resemble the feet of a duck and fastened to the feet, and with a large rudder for steering. When everything was completed Mr. Naramore, who, by the way, weighs 300 pounds, climbed to the top of a shed to take a little trial trip around the barnyard. Reaching the peak, he carefully crept out to the end, and, raising the gigantic wings, dropped off—that is, Mr. Naramore thinks he dropped. He has only some slight recollections of what happened after he left the roof of the shed, until he found himself prone in the barnyard. Mr. Naramore has now given up the idea of a successful flying machine.

FAILURE AT BLUFFTON.

Shumaker & Co. Driven to the Wall by Drop in Prices.

BLUFFTON, Ind., Feb. 28.—The firm of S. F. Shumaker & Co., poultry and wholesale grocers, made an assignment yesterday, with C. H. Plessinger, of the Studabaker bank, as assignee. It is estimated that the assets are between $10,000 and $12,000, with liabilities of $60,000. The Studabaker bank and J. S. Sprowl, of Warren, hold chattel mortgages amounting to $8,000 and the remaining creditors will fare poorly. Shumaker & Co. did a business of $300,000 a year, with branches at Warren, Fort Wayne and Ramsey, Ill., and purchased produce at numerous points along the Clover Leaf railway. On January 1 the firm had 30,000 cases of eggs in cold storage in the eastern markets, which were bought at 17 cents a dozen. A drop in prices ensued and they were sold at 7 cents and 8 cents. The loss on eggs alone since the first of the year is estimated by Mr. Shumaker at $15,000.

MADE BIG HAULS.

The Police Raid Two Tough Joints.

Jerry Moriarity's Road House Visited—Ten Men and Five Women Captured by the Officers.

Fifteen cases appeared on the docket in police court this morning, the largest number that has been there for many a day.

About midnight last night a telephone message called the police to the road house kept by Jerry Moriarity, back of Lindenwood cemetery. The message said there was a boisterous crowd at the place making a tough show of themselves. Captain Borgman, Sergeant Dasler, Officers Dickson, Spillner and Elliott went out to pull the gang.

Ten people were found in the road house. There were seven men and three women. They were indulging in a high kicking exhibition and other disgusting orgies. All were loaded up in the patrol wagon and taken to the station.

The names they gave were as follows: William McVinton, Henry Smith, Phillip Kenedy, John Brown, Alexander Thompson, James Monroe, James Allen, Emma Eddings, Georgia Weber and Josie Smith.

McVinton, Brown, Thompson, Monroe and Allen put up $15.50 apiece at the station and were released. This morning some young fellow, who was said to be a lover, called at the police station and paid a fine for Emma Eddings and she was turned out. Josie Smith and Georgia Weber plead guilty to prostitution and were sent to jail for fifteen days. They appeared in court wearing thick, heavy black veils so that they could not be recognized. Frank Smith pleaded not guilty to associating with prostitutes, but the evidence convicted him and he went over with the girls for fifteen days.

At 3 o'clock this morning a man named Gindelsberger, who lives at No. 1 Monroe street, reported at the police station that there was a tough quartet in a room at his house. The room belongs to a woman, she having rented it, and Gindelsbarger said the parties were in that room. Sergeant Jewell and Officer Elliott made the raid and captured two men and two girls. One of the girls Frankie Wright paid her fine of $15.50, as did also the two men, William Jones and Harry Little. The other girl, Fanny Dillon, pleaded guilty to prostitution and went to jail for fifteen days.

At 7 o'clock this morning Officers Hines, Patton and Tanner went to Moriarity's road house and placed the proprietor under arrest and brought him to the police station where he was locked up until court time. He was charged with keeping a house of ill fame and also with keeping his saloon open after 11 o'clock at night. His bartender, Philip Kennedy, was charged with associating with prostitutes and also with keeping the saloon open after 11 o'clock. Attorney E. V. Emerick appeared for Moriarity and Kennedy and asked for a change of venue. Mayor Oakley sent the cases to Squire Alex McDaniel, in Washington township, and they will be tried at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Moriarity is the man with whom the police have had much trouble in the last few months. He was refused a city saloon license by the mayor and appealed to court to compel the mayor to grant the license. The case is still in court. Moriarity has a government license.

Mrs. Booth Ill.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Mrs. Ballington Booth is ill at her home in Mount Clair, N. J., as a consequence of the recent worry in connection of the removal of Mr. Booth from the command of the Salvation army in the United States.

Mrs. H. E. Anderson entertained the Exchange club yesterday afternoon with a poverty luncheon, which was both original and unique. The ladies were invited to come and bring their mending and something to eat prepared by themselves. Work was exchanged by the different ladies, some deftly putting a patch or sewing buttons upon her friends garment while others neatly darned the socks of some other woman's liege lord. The prize, a handsome jardiniere, was awarded Mrs. S. J. Hall for turning over best sample of work in shape of a neatly darned pair of socks while Miss Marguerite Wilson gained the booby prize—a book entitled "Care of the Wardrobe," by failing to properly mend a pair of trousers. This club is the one which started the Ladies Exchange on Broadway several years ago. The Exchange has changed [illegible] several times since [illegible] Mrs. Grotian [illegible] present [illegible] club will [illegible] at the home of Mrs. Wagner, Thursday, March 5.

$1,000 REWARD

Offered by a Man for His Missing Wife.

Circular Received by the Police—Charles Timony Claims He Was Thrown From a Train.

The police have received a circular from Chicago offering $1,000 reward for the recovery of Mrs. Arthur B. Cody, the wife of a prominent young business man of that city. Mrs. Cody mysteriously disappeared while on a visit to her parents at Tacoma, Wash., on January 31, and has not been heard of since. She is about thirty years of age and very handsome. The circular states that Mrs. Cody was mentally depressed when she disappeared.

THROWN FROM A TRAIN.

Charles Timony, who claims his home is in East Carrollton, Ohio, tried to steal a ride out of the city yesterday on a Pittsburg train. He had gone as far as Broadway when he says some man who claimed to be a railroad detective threw him off the moving train. His face was badly cut by the fall and a physician had to be called to attend him. Timony reported the matter to the police and threatens to proceed against the party who threw him off if he can find out who it was.

CHASED A BURGLAR.

About 2 o'clock this morning Officer Spillner discovered a burglar in the tailor shop of Charles Scheffler, on West Main street, near Harrison. The burglar also discovered the officer and ran. A lively chase followed but the fellow got away by running through the Nickel Plate yards in Nebraska. Nothing was stolen at Sheffler's establishment.

ASSAULTED.

A well known young man was walking toward home on West Superior street this afternoon when two men leaped from an alley brutally assaulting him. He does not know whether robbery was intended or not. His face and head were badly cut and pounded. He has sworn out warrants for his assailants but their names were not made public.

GRATIFYING RESULTS.

Interesting Experiments with the New Stomach Remedy.

Not a Patent Medicine, But a Safe Cure for All Forms of Indigestion.

The results of recent investigation, have established, beyond question, the great value of the new preparation for indigestion and stomach troubles, it is composed of the digestive acids, pepsin, bismuth, Golden Seal and similar stomachics, prepared in the form of 20 grain lozenges, pleasant to the taste, convenient to carry when traveling, harmless to the most delicate stomach, and probably the safest, most effectual cure yet discovered for indigestion, sour stomach, loss of appetite and flesh, nausea, sick headaches, palpitation of heart, and the many symptoms arising from imperfect digestion of food. They cure because they cause the food to be promptly and thoroughly digested before it has time to sour, ferment and poison the blood and nervous system.

Judge Frank Ives, of District Court of Crookston, Minn., says: For some time I have used Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets with seeming great benefit, with few exceptions, I have not been so free from indigestion in twenty-five years.

Geo. W. Roosevelt, U. S. Consul to Brussels, Belgium: Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, safe, pleasant to take, convenient to carry, give keen appetite, perfect digestion.

Mr. W. D. Tomlin, Mechanical Engineer, Duluth, Minn.: One box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets has done its work, and I am again gaining flesh and strength.

O. E. Ransom, Hustonville, Ky.: I was distressed and annoyed for two years with throwing up food, often two or three times a day; had no certainty of retaining a meal if I ate one. Four boxes of the tablets from my druggist, have fully cured me. I find them pleasant to take, convenient to carry.

Rev. G. D. Brown, Mondovi, Wis.: The effect of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is simply marvellous; a quite hearty dinner of broiled beef steak causes no distress since I began their use.

Over six thousand people in the state of Mich. alone in 1894 were cured of stomach troubles by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Full sized packages may be found at all druggists at 50c., or sent by mail on receipt of price from Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

The prohibitionists are first in the field with a ticket in this state. Their platform is a "broad gauge" one.

Up to date there is no need for using the X rays to ascertain whether or not the backbone of winter is broken.

The agreeable and friendly candidate is abroad in the land. Get ready to receive a vigorous handshake from him.

Politicians at the state capital say it is practically settled that Judge Wm. S. Holman will be nominated for congress by the democrats of the Fourth district.

The republicans are having about as hot a fight over their delegates from this district to the national convention as the democrats are having about their mayoralty candidate.

Governor Matthews has completely silenced the fellows who have been claiming that he is in favor of free coinage at the ratio of 16 to 1. He also says that he will not be a presidential candidate on such a platform.

Francis Murphy has joined the prohibition party and declares that he will be found hand and hand with that party until the last saloon is closed. Mr. Murphy expresses himself as being disgusted with the attitude of the old party leaders who, he says, harmonize the temperance people just enough to get their votes.

A close friend of Dr. Chauncey M. Depew is authority for the statement that "Our Chauncey" has recently ordered 10,000 lithographic portraits of himself. They are taken from a painting of him, it is said, by Frank Carpenter, the artist. What is Dr. Depew going to do with them? is a question that will naturally suggest itself. As a Morton delegate-at-large to St. Louis Depew can hardly expect to make use of them, unless he is preparing to advance for some unexpected developments.

There comes from South Dakota the rumble of civil strife. Senator Pettigrew demands election as a delegate to St. Louis, and will not brook refusal. He wants to expound there the free silver theory in terms that will make the "goldbugs" shudder. Despite all this he may be left at home.

In London public sentiment is clearly in sympathy with Dr. Jameson. He is a hero in the eyes of the English masses. He might have enjoyed the approval of the government if he had succeeded in overturning the south African republic. His case may yet perplex the Salisbury government considerably.

Of course the United States government must act when formally notified that enemies of a friendly nation are fitting out a filibustering expedition in a United States port. But it does seem as if the government might move slowly when the filibusters are going to the aid of the Cuban patriots, who are struggling for liberty.

Silver democrats in Indianapolis have organized a Democratic Silver league. Hon. Franklin Landers, democratic candidate for governor in 1880 is president. Senator Romeo Stewart is an active member of the new organization. There is a very strong silver sentiment among the democrats of Indianapolis, and they propose to make themselves felt in the election of delegates to the county, district and state conventions.

There are many people who, having found how difficult it is to respond to a call for a speech, will sympathize with the Maine man the Lewiston Journal tells of, who attempted to speak in a town meeting on a subject that greatly interested him. "Fellow citizens," he sang out lustily, as he rose—"fellow citizens,"—a long and embarrassing pause, and then he added: "If I only had the ideas I ought to have on this subject, and had the words to express those ideas, I think I could relieve my feelings." How the crowd cheered as he sat down!

The falling of Ash Wednesday on February 19 this year will bring Easter to us on April 5, a somewhat early date, and Ascension Thursday on May 14, with Pentecost on May 23 and Trinity on the last day of the same month. Eleven years ago Easter came on the same date as it will upon this year, and in the closing year of the century it will come three days earlier. It may, as it is well known, come as early as March 22 and as late as the corresponding date in April, but they are exceptional years when it falls on either of these dates. They who are alive, though, on April 23, 1905 will hear the Easter anthems rendered in the churches on that Sunday.

The order issued by the Cincinnati jail officials forbidding entrance to the premises of morbid visitors to see the murderers of Pearl Bryan will be indorsed by all right thinking men. One of the most inexplicable as well as dangerous tendencies of the time is the growth of sympathy for criminals, and the curiosity which brought thousands of people to the Cincinnati jail last week is akin to sympathy, for it feeds the vanity of its object quite as much. In his Chicago speech the other day Theodore Roosevelt said: "When this nation realizes the duty it owes its citizens then we will see the time when sympathy goes out to the lawabiding, not to the lawless." May the approach of that period be expedited should be the prayer of the public, and the Cincinnati incident is welcomed because it indicates the coming.

Not even in the flush days of California were mining operations so active in this country as they are now. Indeed all over the world mining properties are having the greatest boom known in history. It is significant of the times that the buying and selling of mines are conducted through syndicate operations. A great company of capitalists is formed. Some are large capitalists—most of them, in fact—but others are men of little means. But, small or great, they organize a company, divide its stock into shares, get the shares subscribed for, then negotiate with mine owners for the sale of their property. When the mine is bought, immediately stamp mills and very expensive plants of machinery are erected, and the work of extracting the ore begins. A great amount of money is required. It is a fact that the small single operator has little opportunity now. Unless he has capital enough to join a syndicate, he must be content to work for wages as the servant of a syndicate. In Europe and America the popular tide has set toward mining shares for investment as well as speculation. The English are especially active. In every city of the American Union are corporations or members of corporations for operating mines. A syndicate of St. Louis capitalists has recently reopened for active operation a number of California's old mines in half a dozen of the mountain counties.

A wonderful electric bottle labeling machine has been invented. It will paste the labels on 36,000 bottles in a day. The attraction of static electricity picks up one by one the labels from a pile and holds each till a revolving paste roller comes by and licks it. Then the bottle comes rolling along by a further move of this astonishing machine, when the label is let loose from its electrical attraction. It sticks fast to the bottle and is carried along with it to give place to the next.

The best guarantee for the whole world's future peace is not an actual formal alliance, but a thorough good understanding and spirit of friendliness between the two great English speaking nations of the globe, Great Britain and the United States.

"All business interests must necessarily be subordinated to the superior claims of the honor and safety of the nation," says a writer. Just so.

LABRADOR THE NEXT

EXPLORING EXPEDITION TO LEAVE PHILADELPHIA IN JUNE.

To Study the Eskimo and Collect Flora and Fauna—College Students In the Party. Lieutenant Peary's Old Ship, the Kite, to Take the Party—To Return In a Year.

An expedition bound for the interior of Labrador will leave Philadelphia in June for the purpose of studying the Eskimo and collecting specimens of the flora and fauna of that region. G. H. Perkins of the class of '95, University of Pennsylvania, will be the commander, and the remainder of the party will consist of four students of zoology, geology, botany and archæology and a number of college students and others.

Professor Frank Russell, curator of the University of Iowa, accompanies the expedition as archæologist.

The trip from St. John's, N. F., to Labrador will be made in the ship Kite. At St. John's the Philadelphia party will be joined by ten scientists sent out to explore the coast of Ellesmere Land, and also to discover traces of the ancestors of the Greenlanders, who, it is thought, came from that place. Professor Hite of the University of Pennsylvania, who is the originator of the expedition, said: "The party will leave Philadelphia about the middle of June. The ten scientists who will join our party at St. John's will be sent out by Dr. C. T. Mendenhall, superintendent of the United States coast geological survey; General A. W. Greely, Baron von Saurma-Jeltsch, J. A. W. Grip, envoy extraordinary from Germany to Norway and Sweden; J. W. Powel, director United States geological survey, and Baron Adolf Eric Nordenskjold of the Royal Academy of Science, Sweden.

"These persons have supplied the wherewithal for the researches of the scientists for a period of one year. The Kite, after leaving St. John's, will cruise around the gulf of St. Lawrence, making collections at the south coast of Labrador, visiting the island of Anticosti for Eskimo remains, and will then go north along the eastern coast of Labrador as far as Cape Chidley. Parties will be left at various points along the coast, supplied with tools and equipments necessary for their researches. At Clarence head, in James sound, Ellesmere land, it is proposed to leave the ten scientists, who will erect winter quarters and a general supply station there. They will make explorations until the six months of darkness come on, when they will return to Clarence head, starting out again in the spring. It is expected to explore at least 300 miles of Ellesmere Land, which in all probability is the original home of the ancestors of the present Greenland Eskimo, who must have crossed to Greenland over 1,000 years ago. Of these people the scientists are desirous of finding traces.

"The Kite will return to Labrador, picking up the various parties, and then keep on to St. John's, arriving about Sept. 13. She will return in 1897, carrying the same number of people and for the same purpose and will bring home the party of scientists from Ellesmere Land."

Professor Hite said that the university cruise to India in September would prevent his accompanying the expedition to Labrador.—Philadelphia Press.

"OUR MR. ELIJAH A. MORSE."

Members of Congress Have Fun With That Gentleman.

Several members of the house were having a good deal of quiet fun yesterday afternoon at the expense of Mr. Morse. They had in some way obtained possession of a circular advertising letter sent out by the stove polish firm of which he is the founder and head.

The communication is on a sheet surmounted by the letter head of the company, with a picture of the establishment where the polish is manufactured. The contents of the letter paper are of the most legitimate advertising character and set forth in detail the superiority and paramount merits of the polish. At the bottom is a four line postscript stating that "our Mr. Elijah A. Morse" is a member of congress and should the recipient of the letter desire any documents or information from the national capital he would be glad to serve him.—Washington Times.

A POOR BOY CAMPAIGN.

Whoever Is Nominated the Real American Aristocracy Will Be Represented.

Whoever is nominated as the Republican candidate for the presidency we shall have "a poor boy" campaign. Governor Morton is the son of a Presbyterian parson and was earning his own living when he was 16 years old. Senator Quay is also the son of a Presbyterian parson down in the mining regions of Pennsylvania and worked his own way through college. Senator Cullom was raised on a Kentucky farm.

Senator Allison's parents were also farmers, pioneers on the western reserve, and he earned what education he got. Speaker Reed's family were well to do, but he also worked for a living when a mere boy, and the same can be said of Major McKinley. Therefore the genuine American aristocracy is represented by all the candidates.—William E. Curtis in Chicago Record.

The Good Man's Imitative Dog.

"I have a dog," said a minister who had just heard a precocious story, "that is very sagacious. One Saturday he followed me to church and sat among the people and watched my movements in the pulpit. That afternoon I heard a terrible howling in my back yard and of course went to see what it meant. I found my dog was in the wood shed standing on his hind legs in a dry goods box. He held down a torn almanac with one paw and gesticulated with the other while he swayed his head and howled to an audience of four other dogs even more

MERRY MEDICINE WAR.

Chicago Druggists to Make Patent Cures of Their Own.

A factory for making remedies similar in nature to the proprietary medicines now on the market is to be started in Chicago by retail druggists. A large majority of the pharmacists are interested, and they hope to drive the medicine makers from the field.

The retail druggists have formed the United States Pharmaceutical company and have issued stock to the amount of $20,000. Almost all of this has been taken up by prominent pharmacists.

The formation of the company was the outgrowth of a recommendation made by the Illinois Pharmacists' association. The members of that association said that nothing could be done to check the cutting in prices, and that druggists must enter the field as manufacturers. As a result 250 of the retailers of Chicago met and formed a company. In two weeks more than 250 Chicago names have been added to those of the organizers, and from the state at large 100 more have come.

Their object is to fight in a practical way the cutting of prices of drugs and medicines handled by department stores and to combat at the same time the sale of medicines by the manufacturers and wholesale dealers to these stores.

Hereafter when a person wants a dose to cure a headache and asks for the remedy usually taken the druggist will advise him to take something not only "just as good," but scientifically better, because it has been compounded by a committee of physicians and druggists of the highest reputation. The same thing will be told the man who wants a blood purifier or a plaster.

CHANGES AT HARVARD.

Vote by the Faculty to Reduce Length of Study In the College.

For two weeks there has been a sharp debate in the Harvard faculty on the proposition to reduce the course of study in the college from four to three years. The Sun reporter learned on the best authority that some action was taken at the last faculty meeting, and President Eliot, when asked concerning the matter, admitted that fact. He said the faculty had voted by a small majority to reduce the number of courses required for a degree from 18 to 15, and that the idea was that any man who had passed 12 of the 15 courses with credit should receive his degree.

This means a three years' course for the college and a dissolution of all the class lines and class feeling. The majority in favor of the motion, however, was so small that the vote was not considered final. The scheme will have to be approved by the corporation and board of overseers before it can go into effect. Members of the faculty who opposed the plan think that the action would be a mistake and predict that if it passes favorably it will bring on a storm of indignation from graduates.—New York Sun.

SAVED BY THE GIRLS.

New Jersey Skater Rescued by Female Heroism and Originality.

John Mitchell, a well known young man, broke through the ice while skating on Speedwell lake near Morristown, N. J. The water was deep and cold, and Mitchell screamed for help as he struggled for life. Several young women who witnessed the accident went to his assistance and by prompt and original plans began a scheme to rescue him.

Several excited young men skated up intent on brave deeds, full of suggestions, but devoid of plans. The young women pushed them out of the way without ceremony and set about to work out Mitchell's salvation by their own methods. Two of the girls lay down on the ice and the others held on their dresses while they reached into the water and seized the drowning man by the arms. Considerable vigorous pulling resulted in bringing Mitchell out upon the stronger ice, where he soon recovered his breath and went home to thaw out.—New York Recorder.

RICHES FOR LORD SHOLTO.

Young Douglas Reported to Have Fallen Heir to $3,000,000.

Mrs. Addis-Mooney, mother-in-law of Lord Sholto Douglas, says that by the death of an uncle, Rev. Archibald Douglas, in London, Sholto will come into about $3,000,000. "We received the good news by cable yesterday," she said. "It merely announced the death of Rev. Archibald Douglas and said that there was money for Sholto, but I know all about it. His uncle was a very wealthy priest, and Sholto is his sole heir. Sholto is now in the southern part of the state, but will be here in a few days. He knows nothing about his good luck yet. The cablegram came to our home in Oakland, and Lady Douglas, who is now with me, opened it. We will telegraph to Sholto tomorrow. Of course Sholto and his wife will now give up the stage. Though they have made a big success, it would be foolish for them to work when they can live without working."—New York World.

MRS. CLEVELAND'S WEIGHT.

The Lady of the White House Surprises Her Friends.

People who knew Frances Folsom as a slight young schoolgirl and have not enjoyed the privilege of seeing her since are altogether not prepared for the development which has taken place since her marriage. Mrs. Cleveland has acquired additional weight almost imperceptibly, but none the less surely. It does not detract in the slightest degree from her charming presence, and many of her friends believe that with her carriage the added weight was almost necessary.

Some of Mrs. Cleveland's most intimate friends have been particularly curious of late to know how much she actually weighed, but they were not altogether prepared for the statement she made the other day to one of her friends that she now tipped the scales at exactly 196 pounds.—New York World.

Alligator In an Oyster.

Frank Yoder, a grocer in Hazleton, Pa., while opening oysters the other day found a young alligator in one. It was alive and frisky, and the only deformity was the absence of its hind legs. Mr. Yoder will send the reptile to the Academy of Natural Sciences in Philadelphia.—Philadelphia Press.

Indications Hopeful.

A REGION OF WONDER.

THE MYSTERIOUS COUNTRY NEAR THE SCHOMBURGK LINE.

High Plateaus With Precipitous Sides Which Modern Man Has Been Unable to Scale—May Contain Prehistoric Animals and Trees—Proposed as a Park.

Perhaps the result of the Venezuela boundary commission's work will be the solving of one of the most remarkable geological enigmas in the world and the exploration of what is regarded as a unique natural wonderland. This remarkable region is a number of elevated and isolated areas of land, situated on what the British call British Guiana's southwestern boundary, which is in the disputed territory. It is on the British side of the Schomburgk line. A British Guiana newspaper describes this region, as far as it is known, and expresses the hope that the final settlement of the boundary controversy will leave it well within British bounds. Should there be another result, however, the newspaper says, the region should be made an international park, something on the plan of the Yellowstone park reservation.

The region is called by the Indians "Roraima," but the several isolated areas are known by distinctive names. Each consists of what might be called an isolated mountain, but is really a tableland, comprising an area of 100 or more square miles, elevated several thousand feet above the surrounding country. The rocky sides of the mountains are as perpendicular as the Hudson river Palisades and entirely bare of vegetation and have defied all attempts to scale them. The level summits are covered with trees and other vegetation, and down the rocky sides fall a large number of cascades of considerable size, indicating the certain existence of rivers and streams on the mysterious summits, and probably of lakes that feed the rivers. The summits have been observed with telescopes, and are known to be as full of plant life as the tropical plains below, but beyond this nothing is known.

Because so little is known of the condition of these tablelands occasion is given for all manner of speculation as to what exists there. That the vegetation is quite different from that on the plains below the telescope shows, and that it should be so is quite natural, as the tablelands are 2,000 or more feet higher than the plains. While the climate of the plains is tropical, that of the tablelands must be temperate, not only because of their elevation, but also because of the free play the winds have about them.

Of the geology of the region this explanation is given: This part of South America rose slowly from the sea, through successive and remote ages. The Roraima mountains were formed precisely as was the rest of the land, and are not the result of volcanic action. Hence they must have been above the ocean long before the surrounding plains appeared. They stood 2,000 feet above the sea level when the neighboring mountain tops were but islands in the ocean. In the course of a period, difficult to appreciate, the adjacent valleys and plains appeared above the water and became covered with vegetation and animal life. But the isolated plateaus of Roraima had a tremendous start of the plains below. Here comes the alleged ground for the speculation that perhaps on these mysterious summits there exist flora and fauna unlike any found elsewhere, forms of life that long since disappeared from other parts of the world, but remained the same on these summits because unaffected by the influences of communication with the outer world. All sorts of wild guesses have been hazarded regarding the existence of strange reptiles and animals among the streams and forests of Roraima.

The cascades falling from the summits are among the highest in the world. One is 2,000 feet high, and is broad enough to be visible 30 miles away. It falls sheer, without a break. The mountains from which these cascades fall form the dividing watersheds of the Amazon, the Orinoco and the Essequibo, the three great rivers of South America, and the waters of the cascades flow some to one and some to another of these rivers. It is argued that to supply these waterfalls there must be a considerable body of water on the mountain plateaus, and it is natural to conclude that where there are large bodies of water there are fish and reptiles. The resulting conclusion that, because these fish and reptiles must have been isolated on the mountain tops for ages they are likely to be different from any known species, is regarded as quite natural. The mountain plateaus form practically little countries by themselves like islands, but more isolated because the ocean of air that surrounds them does not afford the facilities for communication with other islands that the waters of the ocean do.

One of those plateaus, known as Kukenham, which is better situated for observation than any of the others, is estimated to have an area of 200 square miles or more. The smallest, which bears the name common to the group, Roraima, is estimated to contain 80 to 140 square miles.

The story of this mysterious region is not new, at least in British Guiana. It is many years since any scientific men were in the region, but chance travelers and gold prospectors happen there at odd times, and when they return to Demerara they add their little store of information and mystification to the rest. Schomburgk pointed out the great importance of the region to Great Britain, as it is the dividing watershed, but the writer in the British Guiana newspaper does not say whether the exploring botanist had much to say about the wonders and mysteries of the Roraima region.—New York Sun.

OUR FOREIGN TRADE.

The Way In Which Our Export of Manufactures Should Be Built Up.

To work up a demand and properly to introduce our manufactured goods in foreign markets require greater energy and aptitude than in selling cereals, provisions and raw materials, for the reason that it becomes necessary to cater to the tastes and overcome the prejudices of consumers, while in the case of raw materials the exporter deals only with wholesalers and manufacturers, who themselves convert the products into manufactured articles suitable to the wants of their people. Hence a manufacturer and exporter must expend much time, labor and money to introduce his wares abroad, requiring a large preliminary outlay and careful study of the wants of the different markets, coupled with untiring energy and perseverance. Returns and profits are necessarily slow. That frequently discourages exporters in their first efforts, and causes them to abandon the attempt to introduce their goods in competition with others already well known and established in the market they seek to enter.

The prejudices of foreigners are difficult to overcome, but the energy and ingenuity of our business men who go abroad to cultivate new markets should be equal to the occasion and capable of overcoming all obstacles. With our inexhaustible natural resources, improved machinery and inventions of all kinds, and an increasing supply of skilled labor every year, this country is capable of making rapid strides in the expansion of its foreign export trade, provided our capitalists, manufacturers and merchants give it the thought and attention that it deserves. If only one-half of the capital, energy and attention that is now absorbed in manipulating stocks, trusts, questionable mining companies, and other inflated schemes was devoted to the development of legitimate manufacturing enterprises, and to seeking consumers for their products abroad, the country would become more and more prosperous each year, and be able to provide employment for her skilled artisans, whose labor is the foundation and mainstay of her wealth.—"Our Foreign Trade," by Fenton T. Newberry, in Century.

NOVEL HEADACHE CURE.

Which Proves That It's an Ill Wind That Blows Nobody Good.

The latest "cure" suggested for the relief of headache is a hair cut. A certain physician in London has met with great success lately in his treatment of persistent cases of "nervous" headaches, and he has finally disclosed the secret.

In each case, he says, after the patient had laid bare a long tale of woe—of sleepless nights and miserable days—he prescribed, briefly, a simple hair cut. It is not necessary that the hair should be cropped off short, after the fashion of convicts.

The curative property of the treatment is based on the fact that the tube which is contained in each single hair is severed in the process, and the brain "bleeds," as the barbers say, thereby opening a safety valve for the congested cranium. A commentator in the London society press, in referring to this cure, says:

"Try the cure when next attacked by headache, and if the result be not satisfactory rest assured that it is not the fault of the prescription, but that the head is so wooden that it 'wooden't' act."

A NOVEL FETE.

Women to Saw Two Hundred and Fifty Cords of Wood to Build a Church.

In and about Equinunk and Little Equinunk, Wayne county, Pa., the men are hardy, big hearted mountaineers and tradesmen. The women are good looking, healthy and intelligent.

The members of the Methodist church are endeavoring to raise funds to build a new church and have a peculiar contract with the Equinunk Chemical company, which owns one of the largest wood acid factories in this country.

The women of the church have agreed to cut and pile 250 cords of wood for the company at $1 per cord.

The idea is attracting attention throughout the section and promises to provide a fete week for Equinunk people.

The invitation was sent out by Minnie Sherwood, June Southwell and May Butterfield. It asks the women to bring an ax, saw, two wedges and a good sized maul, the job to be done in a workmanlike manner. Already many women have decided to take part and are sharpening their axes.—New York World.

To Keep Store Windows From Frosting.

Storekeepers were skeptical when assured a year ago that an electrical fan, kept in constant motion in a show window, would prevent the formation of frost on the windows, thus rendering useless the elaborate displays of goods, which they were often at great expense to make. A single trial proved that the device was effective, and during the recent cold weather the little fans were noted buzzing industriously in the clear windows of many Sixth avenue and Twenty-third street and Broadway stores.—New York Journal.

Lincoln's Height.

The admirable speech of Hon. Thomas B. Reed in your paper of Feb. 2 contains one error which I would like to correct. Mr. Reed says Mr. Lincoln was 6 feet 4 inches in height. Mr. Lincoln told my father that he was exactly 6 feet 3 inches only a short time before his tragic death. Mr. Lincoln was very fond of tall men, and generally knew their exact height and never hesitated to say, "I am exactly 6 feet 3."—Emma Gurley Adams in New York Press.

He received for his work more than $600 in contributions, but it is said he expected $1,000. During the services 250 hymnbooks belonging to Mr. Gill were stolen. The committee paid him $60 for them.

General Agnus as an Author.

General Felix Agnus, editor of the Baltimore American, read before the Army and Navy club of Washington the other evening his novelette entitled "A Woman of War," a southern war sketch founded on an incident which occurred when General Agnus was one of Major General Banks' famous "forlorn hope" before Port Hudson. The story has been dramatized, and is now in rehearsal for the legitimate stage.

Ten years ago the logs in Wisconsin ran four or five to 1,000 feet of lumber. Now 12, 15 and even 20 logs are required to furnish as much. In five years the decrease in diameter of the pine trees cut for lumber has been 35 per cent.

A LONG CAREER OF CRIME.

For Forty-five Years Brockway Has Been a Forger and Counterfeiter.

The recent trial and conviction at Trenton of William E. Brockway and his gang of counterfeiters, in which the secretary of the treasury was a witness, was one of the most notable criminal cases of recent times, as Brockway himself is one of the most notable criminals. He has the appearance of a venerable and respected church member. He is 74 years of age. As a lad he was apprenticed to a printer of state bank notes. He studied chemistry at Yale.

His career as a forger and counterfeiter began in 1850. He was arrested by the government in October, 1880, for the forgery of $204,000 United States 6 per cent $1,000 bonds. For this he was sentenced to 30 years in prison, but upon his surrendering all his counterfeiting tools and giving valuable information concerning similar swindles sentence was suspended.

WILLIAM E. BROCKWAY.

He was arrested again in 1883 for forging Morris and Essex railroad bonds and sentenced to five years in state prison. The suspended sentence was, for some reason, not enforced against him.

Brockway lived for many years under the name of Spencer at 264 Clermont avenue, Brooklyn, with his wife, son and daughter. He passed as a sea captain, and his absences from home were accounted for as "voyages." The family were members of Dr. Baker's Church of the Messiah, and Brockway himself frequently attended the services there.

He was supposed to be an eminently respectable member of society until he quarreled with his wife and, it is said, shot her. Soon afterward he was arrested for crossing the Wall street "dead line," and his real character was disclosed. It is said that his family, up to that time, had been in ignorance of his real business, supposing him to be an honest engraver and printer.

The details of the arrest at Hoboken and fall of Brockway and his accomplices are well known. The detectives captured $900,000 in Canadian notes, with only the reverse side printed; $300,000 in United States gold certificates, neatly finished, and fiber paper prepared for printing $400,000 more. It is said that the counterfeiters were backed by some of the wealthiest and cleverest criminals in the country.

Preacher Drank Whisky at a Funeral.

Rev. Jesse J. Roseberry, a prominent Baptist minister of Central City, W. Va., was arrested for drinking while in a funeral procession. The day was very cold, and the minister, while near the center of the town, turned his vehicle to one side, and, pulling a flask of whisky from his pocket, took a drink. Marshal Griffith, who chanced to be near at the time, arrested the minister, and he was taken before Mayor Hall, and, in addition to a fine, the mayor delivered him a rigid lecture. After paying the fine the minister drove at a rapid rate toward the cemetery, and on arriving there found that the procession had been waiting for him for almost half an hour. The minister claims that his physician prescribed the whisky, and that he was going according to directions. He is 54 years of age and has been preaching for 27 years.

An Individual Preference.

"Some fellers as is interested in silver wants silver money," remarked Plodding Pete thoughtfully, "while others thinks gold is right. I've even heard of fellers that wanted to deposit wheat an things an git currency for 'em."

"Yep," replied Meandering Mike. "A good deal depends on yer pus'nal interests. Now ez fur me, I think a heap o' time could be saved by gittin out orders on responsible breweries negotiable at all the bars in the country."—Washington Star.

He Was Making Money.

"I was amused at the answer I received to a question on a Chicago and Alton railroad train," said E. P. Chapman at the Howard House. "At Bloomington two men entered the train and took a seat immediately in front of me. I did not see them come in and paid no attention to them until one of the men went into the smoking car. It then occurred to me that I wanted to know something about Bloomington as a business point, so, leaning forward, I commenced a conversation.

"'I see you got on at Bloomington. How is it as a business point?'

"'Fairly good.'

"'Were you in business there?'

"'Yes.'

"'What line?'

"'Making money.'

"'Are you going to Chicago?'

"'No, I am moving to Joliet. It is not so good a point for me as Bloomington, but I had a chance to take a steady contract there for five years, and I took it. There is too much uncertainty in the money making business.'

"Then I noticed that he was handcuffed to the seat. He had told me the exact truth—he was going to Joliet penitentiary five years for counterfeiting."—Washington Star.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

The Plans for the Electric Works' Addition Arrive.

A Man and a Boy Badly Injured at Forest, Ohio—Walked off a Train.

The plans and specifications for the proposed addition to the electric works have arrived and estimates on the cost of the building and its equipment are now being made. The building will be a two story brick, and will cost about $60,000. The machinery, including hoisting and traveling cranes, line shafting, boilers and engines, will probably cost double that amount, making the total about $125 000. Mr. McDonald has not yet fully decided to make the improvement, but it is sincerely hoped he may do so soon.

TWO ACCIDENTS.

John Ferrell, supposed to be a tramp, lost a leg at Forest, Ohio, last evening by falling under the wheels while attempting to jump on Pittsburg train No. 70. Conductor Rook picked the unfortunate man up and turned him over to the Forest authorities. A few hours before this accident occurred a nine-year-old boy, whose parents reside in Forest, fell under the wheels of a Big Four train and had both legs cut off at the knees. He was still living when our informant last heard from him, but the chances for his recovery are very slim. This accident was witnessed by some Pittsburg trainmen who were greatly shocked by it.

C. M. Murray, of the Chicago and Alton, and C. A. Hartwell, of the Santa Fe, traveling passenger agents, are in the city looking up business.

A SOMNAMBULIST INJURED

Yesterday morning Aaron Cross was picked up alongside the track of the Nickel Plate railroad, near Burkett. He was unconscious and taken to the poor house. An examination showed that he had his collar bone broken in two places, his shoulder blade dislocated and a couple of ribs fractured. He was badly bruised about the body, and will probably die. Cross was on the incoming train, No. 2, that arrived there about 3:39 yesterday morning, and was asleep in his seat. A brakeman called "Burkett," and it is supposed he walked off the train while half awake. It was nearly 7 o'clock when he was found by another train crew.

THREATENS SUIT AGAINST THE COMPANY.

George Waldschmidt, an employe of the Pittsburg shops threatens to bring suit against the United States Benevolent society, of Saginaw, Mich., to compel them to pay him $15, alleged to be due on account of being incapacitated by a lame back, which was due to accident. Mr. Waldschmidt holds Dr. M. I Rosenthal's certificate that he was unfit for duty from February 5 to 20, and states that the insurance company refused to pay him on the grounds that he was too old to receive indemnity for injuries to his back. According to his policy he is entitled to $7 50 for each week of disability.

TO VOTE ON SUNDAY CLOSING

Monster Legislative Petition From the City of New York.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 28—A petition containing the names of 115 000 citizens of New York city was wheeled into the senate chamber on an oak carriage trimmed with silver. The occasion was the hearing by the joint excise committee on the question of liberal Sunday opening laws for New York, Brooklyn and Buffalo. The petition asks the enactment of a law referring to the voters of cities of the first class at the spring election of 1896 the question whether the sale of beverages, milk and food shall be permitted on Sunday, under proper restrictions to be fixed by statute. John B Penner, chairman of the German American Citizens' union, presented the petition. Rev. Dr. Rainsford, rector of St. George's church, of New York city, spoke in favor of allowing a vote to be taken, saying it would result in a distinct moral advance for the people. Carl Schurz, Gustav Schwab, Ferdinand Levy, James Speyer and Judge Jerolomon also advocated the passage of the law.

COMET "A" 196.

Uncertainty About Its Discovery is Cleared Up.

MOUNT HAMILTON, Cal., Feb. 28.—The Science Observer special circular No. 111, dated February 20, from Boston, just received at the Lick observatory, contains information which seems to clear up the uncertainty heretofore existing regarding the discovery of comet "A" 196. From this circular it seems that the observation obtained at Kiel on February 13 was of Perrine's comet of 1895 (C), and that there was an error in the message received at the Lick observatory which gave its right ascension as 19 hours, 15 minutes, 47.9 seconds, instead of 19 hours, 44 minutes, 47.9 seconds. The declination agreed with that obtained here. As has already been stated a new comet was observed at the Lick observatory by C. D. Perrine, not far from the position indicated in the erroneous despatch, and this fact was duly announced. In answer to this announcement a second message was received from Kiel giving the position of the new comet and also confirming the fact that the observation of February 13 was of comet "C" 195. This leaves no doubt that Perrine is the discoverer of the new comet, although final confirmation awaits mail advices from Germany.

Edward Peters Shoots the Girl Who Rejected Him and Then Kills Himself.

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—The dead bodies of Flora Larbig, seventeen years old, and Edward Peters, nineteen years old, were found today in the basement of the building at 350 West Fourteenth street, where Peters lived. Both bodies were cold, and the murder and suicide, for such it appeared to be, had evidently been committed sometime last night. The girl had a gaping bullet wound behind the left ear. Peters' death being caused by a shot in the right temple. Peters had been out of work for sometime, and despondency over this and his rejection by Miss Larbig were, it is believed, the causes that drove him to the crime.

Three Men Violate the Neutrality Laws.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Feb. 28.—The jury in the case of Captain Wiborg; First Mate Peterson and Second Mate Johanson, who were on trial in the United States district court, charged with violating the neutrality laws between this country and Spain, by carrying an armed expedition to Cuba on the steamer Horsa, has returned a verdict of guilty. The verdict was reached after eight hours deliberation. Counsel for the prisoners gave notice that he would make application for a new trial, and the convicted men were taken to prison, where they will remain until brought up for sentence.

TWO EXECUTIONS.

John Nelson and Pruitt Turner Are Hanged.

HANNIBAL Mo., Feb. 28.—John Nelson was hanged at 11 o'clock at Palmyra, this county, for the murder of John Seult and his old mother in August, 1893.

VAN BUREN, Ark., Feb. 28.—Pruitt Turner, colored, was hanged here today for the murder of Robert Hawkins February 17, 1895. He was composed to the last and, in a short speech on the gallows, stated that he had been unjustly convicted.

ANOTHER FAILURE.

The Kentucky Senatorial Deadlock Unbroken.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 28.—A special to the Post from Frankfort says: The senatorial vote today resulted as follows: Hunter 57; Blackburn 61; Carlisle 3; McCreary 2; Dangley 3; Holt 1; Evans 1; Lewis 1; Bate 1. The five democrats who have been voting against Senator Blackburn divided their votes, three voting for Carlisle and two for McCreary.

BOMBARDED THE TOWN.

A Government Gunboat Shells Momotombo.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Feb. 28.—A government gunboat today threw ten shells into the town of Momotombo, on lake Managua, which had declared for the insurgents. The inhabitants fled. No landing party has as yet been sent from the gunboat. The town of Nagarote has been taken by a government force, which is now advancing on Leon.

READY TO SUBMIT.

Great Britain Has Completed Its Venezuelan Statement.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—The British case in the boundary dispute between Great Britain and Venezuela is now ready. Advance copies have been sent to United States Ambassador Bayard and they were mailed to Washington today. The secretary of the marquis of Salisbury had an interview with Mr. Bayard on the subject yesterday.

Graves Being Robbed.

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 28.—A local official of the Pacific Steamship company makes the statement that bodies of human beings are being systematically snatched from the cemeteries of this city and sent as surgery subjects and for scientific purposes to medical colleges in San Francisco. The authorities are investigating the matter.

Evil Result of Jumping the Rope.

FARMLAND, Ind., Feb. 28.—Edna Addington, a small school girl, north of Farmland, while jumping a rope yesterday burst a blood vessel in the lungs and came near bleeding to death before medical assistance could be secured. She was trying to jump the rope a thousand times without stopping.

Bound to Get There.

Two Irishmen went out skating not long since, and one took a bottle of whisky with him as a sort of "heart warmer." When they decided to "hit the bottle," they found the cork was very tight and impossible to get out without a corkscrew.

"Can't yez get it out, Moike?" said Pat, after a few minutes of hard work by Mike with the cork.

"Yis, begob," said Mike, "I'll git it out shure if Oi have to push it in."—Princeton Tiger.

A Wasted Compliment.

"Yes, I told him that it was said that kisses were much sweeter in the dark"—

"And he turned down the gas?"

"The idiot did nothing of the kind. He just sat there like a stick and said that if a girl were as handsome as I he thought darkness would detract from the pleasantness of the occasion. It was a very nice compliment, but there is a time to speak and a time to act."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Believes In Arbitration.

The Amalgamated Society of Plumbers and Gas Fitters has resolved to advocate a general conference of all labor organizations to decide upon a plan of general arbitration. The employers will be asked to co-operate in the new movement.—New York Sun.

A Rumored Change.

In view of the number of office boys who made their fortunes by bidding for bonds, it is likely that the term "snake story" will be supplanted by "bond story" in the near future.—Chicago Post.

Salisbury's Next Feat.

There is manifest reason to believe that Lord Salisbury is preparing to furnish a striking illustration of the art of backing out gracefully.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Assistance.

"Mrs. Ess entertained, assisted by Mrs. Tee."

"But Mrs. Tee isn't received in good society."

"I know it. They talked about her."

And the century was coming down the stretch at the pace that kills.—Detroit Tribune.

A Natural Thought.

"Do you know, mamma," said Tommy Taddells, as he ran in from school, "that there are microbes in the drinking water?"

"Are there?" replied the good lady. "I should think they'd get drowned."—New York World.

The celebration this year will be in the hands of the Shamrock club, the Hibernians and the Irish Alliance. The program for the occasion is to be an elaborate one.

There was recently a first and second price offered by two enthusiastic members of Summit City lodge, No. 36, A. O. U. W., for the one having initiated the most candidates by the first meeting in April and great interest is being manifested in the result by the membership. Two names were added to roll last evening and several applications were read.

The profits arising from the sale of ice cream and cake, soda water and candy and bread and pies cut no figure today with W. F. Galler, the well known confectioner and baker on Broadway. A handsome twelve pound boy baby arrived at his home this morning and he is being congratulated on all sides by his host of friends. Hereafter his popular Broadway place will go under the firm name of W. F. Galler & Son.

A western genius has applied for a patent on a corn planter, which consists of two boxes attached to the forelegs of a horse, just above the fetlocks, in which is the corn to be planted. Cords passed over the pulleys attached to the saddle down the hind legs, so that every time the horse stepped the tightening of the cord would open the boxes on the forelegs and some corn be shaken into the holes made by the front feet.

A short time ago a young couple registered at the Summit City hotel, near the south depot, as J. M. Mott and wife, of Grand Rapids, Mich. They remained there a few weeks, but yesterday the woman found her husband missing. He had skipped out, leaving her without money or friends. The landlord seized her baggage for his board bill. It was said that the couple were not married. Trustee Schmeitzer furnished the young woman with transportation to a station north on the Grand Rapids railroad and she left yesterday afternoon. She refused to tell her real name or anything about her history or relatives. Mott was a gambler.

Two small boys who are employed in Calhoun street stores had a fight this morning. One of the lads came along where the other was working and called him a name that did not exactly suit him. MR. C. D. LAW.

His Delegates to the Republican District Convention.

The article published in the political column of yesterday's Sentinel in regard to delegates which had been agreed upon for the republican district convention to select delegates to the republican national convention attracted considerable attention and was the talk of the town in republican circles last evening. Our political reporter gave the list just as his nose-hunting proclities enabled him to get it. The friends of Mr. C. D Law claim that it is incorrect in as far as his delegates are concerned and we give today a list of his delegates in the different wards as follows:

First Ward—Jack Kensill, R. W. Tapp

Second Ward—Fred Tresselt, James Bewes

Third Ward—C. E Walton, Amos Sine

Fourth Ward—Hugh Hogan, George Trenam.

Fifth Ward—To be selected.

Sixth Ward—H. S. Gates, Frank Tibbles, R. T. Stapletord.

Seventh Ward—Ben Thompson.

Eighth Ward—W. D Page, Henry Foerster.

Ninth Ward—To be selected.

Tenth Ward—William Turner, W. H. Woodruff.

DECISION RENDERED.

Legacy to Sadie Rockhill Bears Interest and a Charge on Real Estate.

(Last Evening's Huntington Democrat)

W. W. Rockhill and Judge Morris of Fort Wayne, are in attendance at court here today. The former gentleman is postmaster, while the latter is of the law firm of Morris, Bell, Barrett & Morris, of Fort Wayne.

The petition of Sadie M. Rockhill, by W. W. Rockhill, next friend, that the court shall by its decree declare the true interpretation and construction of will of the testatrix, Anna M Holt, concerning the question whether the legacy therein bequeathed to her bears interest from the demise of the testatrix and as to whether the legacy is made a charge upon the real estate of the testatrix. Submitted on agreed statement of facts. Judge Lowry found that said legacy was intended to bear interest from the date of the demise of the testatrix and that the same does constitute a charge on said real estate and the decree was entered accordingly. By the will probated, Sadie M Rockhill was bequeathed $3,000, to be placed in the hands of E. T. Taylor, as trustee, to invest until she became of age and by the above decision the amount bequeathed is interest bearing from the date of Mrs. Holt's death and is a charge upon the real estate.
